to leave Antioch HighMARY FOLEY & STEVE PETERSON Staff Reporters

Antioch Community High School's problems continue as yet another administrator leaves for another position. Assistant Principal Bill Johnson has announced he will be leaving the school at the end of this year's term.

Johnson will be the next principal for Putnam County School, which is located across the river from LaSalle-Peru, where Superintendent Dr. Robert Schley will be heading to next month. Johnson had been at ACHS for only one year. Johnson was formerly a football coach at Grayslake Community High School.

Schley announced his resignation several weeks ago. He will be leaving his post at ACHS to become the superintendent of LaSalle-Peru Township High School, District 120. Schley had been superintendent at ACHS for two years and is originally from Iowa.

Last week, Assistant Principal Al Tamburrino made the announcement that he will not be returning to Antioch Community High School next year. The Warren Township High School Board of Education has named Tamburrino as their new assistant principal. His salary will be $65,000.

"We got a number of candidates and with the movement of the Five-and-Five retirement plan, we interviewed them as they became available," Warren Township High School Superintendent Pat McMahon said.

Tamburrino will begin at Warren on July 1. He replaces Ron Shelton, who resigned to take a position at Glenbard West.

'A Run for Justin' benefit to be held this weekendMARY FOLEY

Residents should not be concerned this weekend if they see a large number of motorcycles in Antioch. Friends Amending Traffic Aging Laws (FATAL) along with Renegades Motorcycle Accessories and Leathers have organized "A Run for Justin" on June 4 starting at 10 a.m. The group is sponsoring the run to generate money to require yearly reaction, vision and hearing tests for elderly drivers and for any aged drivers with increasing driving impairments.

FATAL was formed by a mother of a 3-year-old after her child was killed by an elderly driver with frontal vision problems. Her hope is to have more frequent and accurate testing for the aging.

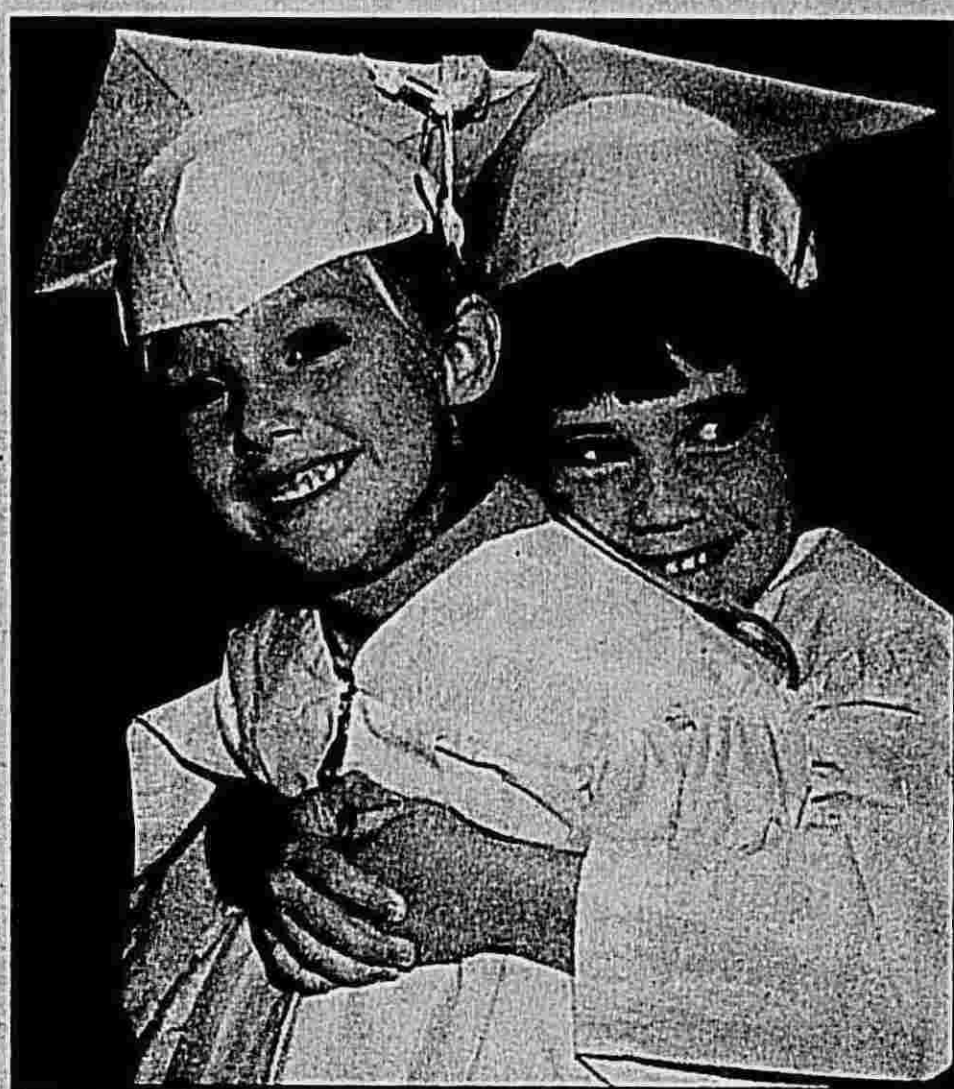

"We feel if there is more frequent and accurate testing for the aging and more public transportation for those who are incapable of operating a vehicle, this will prevent numerous accidents and fatalities on our roadways for the young and old," said Peggy Bynum of the group.

Motorcyclists will be leaving Renegades, on north Route 83, with the last bike out at 1 p.m. Everyone is welcome and anyone unable to make the run is invited to join the party at R&R Crossing on Russell Road.

Donations are $10 for individuals and $15 a couple. Live bands kick off at 5 p.m. until 11 p.m. Included in the cost will be food, beer, and soft drinks. All donations will be going to FATAL. For more information call 395-0709.

Drowning mars
Memorial DayNEAL TUCKER

Memorial Day weekend traditionally brings outdoor fun in the form of barbecues, campouts, family outings, and water sports. What traditionally comes with the fun, however, are mishaps that often turn deadly.

A 19-year-old Round Lake Beach resident, Joseph Boyle, drowned in Highland Lake in unincorporated Grayslake Memorial Day.

Area law enforcement personnel reported just a handful of other incidents apart from the tragedy.

The driver of a semi-tractor walked away from an incident on I-94 May 26 which could have turned out worse.

The driver was going southbound on I-94 when he struck a guardrail at Rte. 41, Mark Kirschoffer, Newport Fire Dept. chief, said.

"He had a large supply of fence coils," Kirschoffer said.

That caused a gaper's delay northbound. Traffic was tied up going southbound for 90 minutes.

The driver was transported by Newport to St. Therese Medical Center.

"He was very fortunate," Kirschoffer said.

Kirschoffer reported no Memorial Day weekend incidents. He said opening of a third lane on I-94 really helped.

"We were steady, but nothing

Gurnee Interim Police Chief Hank Schwarz reported the same.

Lake Zurich police had their hands busy during the Memorial Day weekend, although no serious traffic accidents were reported.

A couple of drag racers disturbed the peace on the 400 block of Pheasant Ridge Road at 2:16 a.m. May 29, and less than two hours later another driver was caught squealing his tires attempting to flee from an officer, and in the process hit two trees before eventually being apprehended.

Officers found a live band rocking a house, and the surrounding neighborhood, just after midnight Sunday morning, and also made two arrests for driving under the influence on Saturday and Sunday evenings.

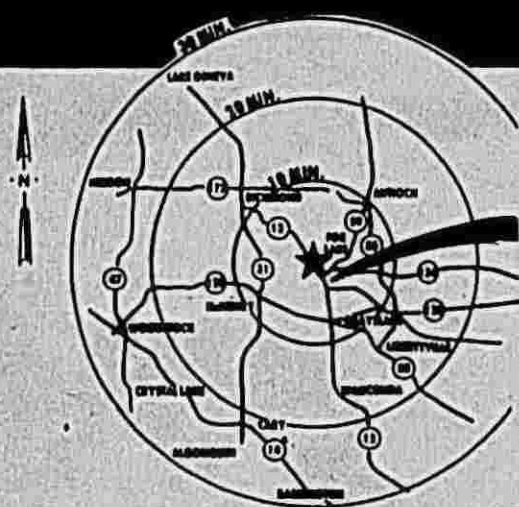

The Village of Wauconda was relatively quiet, not including the massive amount of boats traversing on Bangs Lake.

"It was a very quiet weekend," said Police Chief Andrew W. Mayer, who said he thinks more people are understanding that drinking and driving do not mix. Only one arrest was made for driving under the influence during the 72-hour period.

Not all villages were quiet for the weekend. For one Round See TRAGEDY page A10

Fire department dance this month

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

By now, most residents of the Antioch Fire Prevention District have received their tickets for the department's annual fund raiser. The Firefighter's Dance, which will be held on Saturday, June 25, is the principal fund raising event for the association.

The money raised by the event in the past, along with allocated tax dollars, was used to purchase materials for fire prevention education for the community. Last year, over 5,000 school children were brought to the Antioch fire station to learn about fire prevention.

Younger students learned about 911, checking smoke detectors, escape routes in the home, and fire-fighting gear. Older students were able to watch an actual fire call using a mock house and real fire. Best of all, this education has paid off handsomely.

Children are not the only ones that benefitted from the community education programs. The department also held special classes geared towards senior citizens, civic organizations, and the general public.

The department's Fire Safety House was on display during the Taste of Antioch to show how to get out of the home safely during a fire. The department believes that if the money can be spent on education that will save a life, then it is well spent.

All this education has certainly paid off in Lake County. For the first time in 10 years there were no fire fatalities in the entire county in 1993.

Included in the letter sent to residents are tickets for the dance for only $1 each. Besides the dance, the tickets are good for the many prizes donated by local businesses as well as cash prizes. Winners do not need to be present at the dance.

The department hopes that everyone will be able to donate something so that they can continue the fine fire prevention programs available. Residents interested in additional tickets can call 395-5511 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Woodcrest woes continue with countersuit

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The board of directors for Woodcrest Homeowners Association were hit with a countersuit last week from two summer resident property owners. The countersuit is seeking $100,000 from the board and $1.25 million from board member Charles Gerace and his son.

The countersuit alleges that the subdivision board directed Gerace to remove soil from the common area beach causing damage to the property "owned" by the two residents. At this time, the ownership of some of the property is in the process of litigation.

The Geraces were hit with claims of $500,000 punitive damages and $750,000 in compensatory damages for allegedly "blocking streets, depositing cement residue and blocks on beach property, removal of earth and soil, as to render it a mudhole unable to be used by anyone."

Why the suit was served on the board of directors is a mystery to board members since the association had not been formed at the time the dispute took place. "It is just a bunch of aggravation," said Bill Liniewicz, the association's new president.

According to Liniewicz, the trouble at Woodcrest began in October of 1959 when lot 11 was sold to Fredrica Krueger. In 1966, Joseph Krueger and John Krueger Sr. transferred the property to John and Marilyn Krueger Jr.

In February of 1980, Krueger created a land trust deed in the York State Bank in Elmhurst. At that time he included the property descriptions of lot 11 as well as the property description of the association beaches, parks, Hickory Lane, Beach Walk, and playgrounds in the Deed in Trust, number 873.

Krueger, then allegedly put a structure, foam platform piers, and other pier sections on the association beaches. According to Charles Gerace, the beach custodian, in a letter to Illinois Department of Transportation, the pier sections were condemned by the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources when they were at the Abbey in Lake Geneva, Wis.

Ultimately, the association was found in violation of the Lake County Building Code, the Lake County Nuisance Ordinance, and the Lake County Zoning Ordinance for their beach property. In a letter dated Oct. 25, the group was cited for having an "unsafe, dilapidated structure, junk and debris, and no permit posted for electricity."

Woodcrest Association has brought suit to quiet the title and eviction proceedings, and hope to obtain a temporary restraining order in the next few weeks. Apparently the countersuit was a response to the lawsuit filed by the association.

Antioch children to go to Camp New Hope

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Two Antioch children and a Trevor, Wis. child will be attending Camp New Hope, courtesy of the Antioch Jaycees. The camp is a nationally recognized residential camping program which serves children and adults with developmental disabilities.

P.J. Brankin and Michael Mathews, both age 13 from Antioch, along with 7-year-old Carl Schuenke of Trevor will be attending the camp, which is located in Mattoon, Ill. The camp provides a barrier free environment and a program similar to usual camping activities such as arts and crafts, swimming, boating, games and sports, music, nature study, outdoor living, and so much more.

"The Camp New Hope project is one of the biggest projects Antioch Jaycees does," said Antioch Jaycees President Marlene Olsen. "Last year we sent one child. This year, as a result of our bowling fund raiser, we were able to send three children."

Camp New Hope was first developed and continues to be governed by a group of parents. It is dedicated to meeting the needs of the disabled, as well as the families of the disabled. It was created to provide opportunities that were formerly non-existent. The Camp has been going strong since 1954.

The camp provides opportunities for disabled persons to build friendships. For many children, their experience at Camp New Hope is the first time they have been away from home. The emphasis of the camp is on recreation and enjoyment, however self-help and socialization skills are also taught and encouraged.

In order to be admitted to Camp New Hope, camper selection is made by individual Jaycee Chapters throughout Illinois. For the past three years they have been able to send children to the camp.

The Antioch Jaycees currently have 26 members. The Jaycees meet the 4th Monday at every month at the Regency Inn at 7:30 p.m. Anyone interested in joining, or for more information contact Marlene Olsen at 395-4302. The membership fee is $40.

Grayslake High, Lake Villa put unit district on ballot

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Lake Villa Unit District received unanimous support of two school districts in its quest to get on the ballot for the November election.

Lake Villa District 41 and Grayslake High School District 127 adopted resolutions allowing the measure to be placed on each district's area in a November referendum. Antioch High School and Antioch Grade School District 34 also adopted the resolution.

"There has to be a way to handle all these new kids," said Ray Novak, superintendent at Grayslake High School. "Antioch High is already busting at the seams."

Novak said the issue is growth and residents are going to have to deal with it. He said like it or not a new school will have to be built.

"With all the new kids in the area, residents must confront the issue of how to better take care of the kids in the area. A new school will have to be built," Novak said.

Tax cap limitations and tax cap have forced the local districts with sorting out growth issues. People will continue to move in the area and local officials are going to have to find a way to house students, according to Novak.

ing to Novak.

The unit district plan calls for most of Lake Villa Township students to go to unified district grades K to 12. These students now go to Antioch High School, Grayslake High School, Grant High School Districts, Millburn, Lake Villa District 41, and Antioch Grade School District 34.

Supporters of the plan are attempting to get resolutions by the affected school boards to put a measure on the November ballot. While the various school boards have approved the resolution, they haven't formally taken a position on the plan.

Millburn is the only district so far to reject the resolution. The board didn't want to vote on the issue and will force supporters to secure 50 signatures to place the measure in the ballot for their school district area.

"We previously discussed it in committee and the board didn't have any problems with it, said Dr. Alan Simon, District 41 superintendent. The board felt it should be on the ballot and to let the voters decide."

Referendum supporters are holding two public forums to discuss the issue. One was at Millburn School on June 1, at 7 p.m. and the other is at Lake Villa Intermediate School, June 3, at 7:30 p.m.

Student found with explosive

Both the Antioch Police Department and the Antioch Fire Department were called out to Antioch Community High School, Friday, when a report came in that a possible bomb was found at the school. As it turned out, the "device" was a small eye-dropper sized container that is thought to be a home-made firecracker.

According to Assistant Principal Al Tamburino, a student was found with a small container with gun powder inside.

"It was more like a fire cracker," said Tamburino. "We did not evacuate the school and there was no danger to the school."

Antioch Police Department took possession of the "firecracker" and has sent it on to the laboratory to determine the contents. No names were released because the incident involved juveniles.—by MARY FOLEY

O'Connell is student of month

The Exchange Club of Antioch has awarded Student of the Month honors to Casey O'Connell of Antioch, son of James and Joann O'Connell. He was selected for his activities in the community, including umpiring for Antioch Youth Baseball, and for his outstanding work and activities at school which include membership in the National Honor Society, football and baseball, and participation in drug prevention and education through ALPHA (Adolescents Learning Positive Health alternatives).

Casey O'Connell

O'Connell received a certificate and $50 in recognition of his accomplishments.

Freshman sports return to ACHS

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Community High School Board of Education has decided to re-institute freshman sports for the '94-'95 school year. The program was cut as the school began to face financial difficulties.

"We are going to try it with the freshman sports and see how it works out," said board member Phil Delany. "We may consider junior level sports next year, depending on how things work out."

The re-institution of freshman sports comes with a price tag, however. The cost to participate in any level sports program at Antioch Community High School will be $150 this year.

Several school district residents spoke out on behalf of re-instituting the program several weeks ago at the regular board meeting. At that time, the board delayed the decision because they wanted more information.

While all of the board members liked the idea of reinstating freshman sports, they want to make sure there will be no additional costs to the district. Another issue the board wrestled with was how many levels they wanted to re-introduce. Board President Laurel Dahl also told the board she had been approached by parents who wanted junior level sports reinstated as well.

"If we are going to put freshman sports back in," asked Dahl at the regular meeting, "why not put junior sports in too?"

However, the board ran out of time and needed to make a decision quickly. In order to get on the football schedule, the board met an hour before the graduation ceremony.

And so, freshman sports has been reinstated at Antioch Community High School. While there will not be junior sports next year, the board did not close the door on that issue for the future.

Antioch students receive scholarships

A number of Antioch Community High School students were awarded scholarships at the ACHS Honors Night Program last week. The students received scholarships for both two and four-year institutions.

The Antioch Rotary Scholarship Selection Committee announced that Elizabeth Sobczak is the recipient of the William E. Brook Memorial Community Service Scholarship. Four-year scholarships were awarded to Amanda Baright, Erica Behling, Liz Earl, Tiffany Karg, Kathryn LaPlante, Amy Leiber, Amy Manderscheid, Maxine Olson, Amy Reijonen, David Schram, Kim Wirsing, and Phil Zellmer.

The club also announced the two-year school winners: Jeremy Garbacz, Shelley Kudingo, Cliff Moore, and Maria Notis.

The Rotary Club of Antioch is very involved in the education of area youths. Besides the scholarships, the club also sponsors a luncheon early in the school year to welcome new teachers and school administrators.

Lakes Region Historical Society holds elections

The election of officers for the Lakes Region Historical Society was held and Tom Pientka selected as president. Janet Brook was named vice president.

Recording secretary is Barbara Beese, with Ted Sokulski named as treasurer. Al Little was selected for corresponding secretary and a number of trustees were chosen.

One year trustees are Nancy

Binder and Wanda Hauber. Two year trustees are Robin Kessell and Art Doty.

Co-directors were also selected for the Society. Ainsley Wonderling and Mary Beth Walsh have been named as co-directors of the museum.

Police Beat

ANTIOCH

Warrant arrest for cannabis

Dennis J. McCollum, age 21, of Antioch was arrested on May 27 for an outstanding warrant for possession of cannabis. McCollum was observed by police officers near the Sunset Motel in Antioch. McCollum was transferred to Lake County Jail.

Driving without license

Robert Cruz, age 21, of Waukegan was arrested for driving without a valid drivers license on May 27, after he was observed traveling 62 miles per hour in a 50 mph zone. Cruz was also charged with speeding and was released on bond.

Jamie O. Morales, age 21, of Bristol, Wis., was arrested on May 26 for driving without a valid drivers license. Morales was observed obstructing the flow of traffic. As police were about to handcuff Morales, he became upset when a tow truck appeared to move his car. He broke free from officers and attempted to get into his vehicle and shut the doors. He was charged with no valid drivers license, failure to yield, failure to wear a seat belt, and resisting arrest. Morales was released on bond.

Hotel room damaged

On May 25, housekeeping at the Regency Inn discovered that transmission fluid had been poured over a rented room, damaging the bed and bedding. Damage is estimated at $465. No arrests were made and the hotel will bill the client instead.

Biker stopped for speeding

Karl G. Siebel, age 18, of Antioch was ticketed for no valid registration, stop sign violation, and speeding, when he was observed driving down Anita Street on May 24. Siebel was released on bond.

Woman charged with disorderly

Rebecca A. Abbot, age 20, of Antioch, was arrested May 24 for allegedly making telephone threats to a Wauconda resident. Abbott was charged with disorderly conduct (telephone threats) and was released on bond.

Child returned to mother

Antioch Police Department assisted the Lake County Sheriff's Office when they were able to locate a child taken in a custody dispute on May 23. The mother had requested assistance from the department to have the child, who was found at the boyfriend's residence, and the child was returned to her. The boyfriend surrendered himself to the Lake County Sheriff's Department. There were two warrants outstanding against the boyfriend for child abduction.

LINDENHURST

Argument turns to injury

Police reported a juvenile was arrested on May 23, in connection with a physical altercation. The victim has several abrasions in the leg area and some smaller ones to the face. The juvenile was later referred to a counseling program at St. Therese Medical Center.

Caught drinking and driving

Police reported Martha Lachenschmidt, 35, Zion, on May 29, was arrested for driving under the influence. She was arrested for erratic driving. She failed a field sobriety test and refused a breath test.

Police reported Robert Pappas, 106 Devlin, Fox Lake, on May 29, was arrested for driving under the influence, driving with license revoked and driving in the wrong lane. The officer spotted Pappas' vehicle crossing over the center line on Route 132. He was pulled over and failed a field sobriety test. He refused a breath test.

Police reported Ralph Cartwright, 39, 145 Seymour, Mundelein, on May 28, was arrested for driving under the influence. He was stopped for erratic driving at Granada. He failed a field sobriety test and refused a breath test. He was released on a $100 cash bond.

Rangers receive boat

Lake County Forest Preserve rangers now can better patrol area lakes and rivers with a new boat courtesy of a Lake Villa company. As part of the Law Enforcement Loan program, the Lake County Forest Preserves will receive a 1994 Sea Doo Explorer boat, on loan from Nielsen Enterprise of Lake Villa.

The 13-foot rigid inflatable boat will be used by forest preserve rangers to patrol and conduct search and rescue missions on the Fox River at the Fox River Preserve near Barrington, as well as inland lakes in other forest preserves throughout the county.

Coast Guard to patrol Chain waters

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

The U.S. Coast Guard announced it will be patrolling the lakes and river on the Chain.

Much to the delight of the Fox Waterway Agency (new name for the Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency), the Coast Guard has already started, and will continue to come out to the waterways at a minimum of every weekend.

Karen Kabbes, executive director of the agency, said the Coast Guard is doing it at no cost because the waters are considered federally protected bodies.

"U.S. Coast Guard personnel will be stopping boats to assure federal boating requirements are met and checking if there are any federal violations noted in one of their three 22-foot Boston Whalers," said the agency.

John Nekoloff, U.S. Coast Guard spokesman explained that three different units from three stations including Milwaukee, Kenosha, and Wilmette Harbor will be out manning the waters.

Soon, the Coast Guard will come out during the week as well, said Nekoloff.

Kabbes explained that the agency didn't contact the Coast Guard, the Coast Guard contacted the agency.

Through his Commanding Officer David Pekoske, "We heard there was a need for a federal agency to be down there, to put down some federal guidelines," said Nekoloff.

Last week was the first time Nekoloff visited the Chain O'

Lakes, and he liked what he saw. "It will be something different than the big lake (Michigan) we're used to," he said.

The agency is in the midst of having new sheriff's water patrol contracts signed.

The agency budget is allowing $52,000 this year to be split among McHenry and Lake County Sheriffs, with the main goal in mind of enforcing user fees.

The agency is encouraging boaters to contact the local Coast Guard Auxiliary for courtesy boat inspections. Boaters passing the Coast Guard Auxiliary inspections are given a decal to display on boat.

"The decals tell us that those boats probably do not need to be stopped for routine inspections," indicated Coast Guard Officer Richard K. Loster. Coast Guard Auxiliary personnel are generally available on weekends at the Chain O' Lakes State Park Main Boat Launch to give those inspections at 10 a.m.

Emmons School to celebrate its 150th birthday this year

Help with history

Emmons School was established in 1844, therefore, the historical committee is hard at work planning many celebrations in honor of Emmons 150th birthday. They are in the process of rounding up alumni of Emmons. If you graduated in the distant past, or even the not-so-distant past, please contact the school.

Also, if you have any knowledge of Emmons' history or historical items from Emmons School, please call. You may call the school at 395-1105 or call Jan Lyons at 395-2456. There is a lot of history alive and well in our area. History of this nature is definitely fun. So, if you have any knowledge to share concerning this or if you are an alumni, please call ASAP.

Special program

Once again the Camp Crayon year ended with the annual Graduation/Spring Program assembly. Once again all of the 3, 4 and 5 year olds did an excellent job singing and dancing before a packed house of moms, dads, aunts, uncles, grandmas, grandpas, sisters, brothers and special guests.

Congratulations to the following graduates who will be starting the "big" school in the fall.

Monday/Wednesday session: Kyle Baird, Julie Banser, Matthew Bolton, Brad Fortney, Dustin Johns, Dina Ludwig, Brett Paramski, Kirsten Rognstad, Sarah Struck, R.J. Svoboda and Jenna VandeBerg.

Tuesday/Thursday a.m.: John Carter III, Bobby Hoffman, Andy Kolar, Tiffany Mihovilovich, Tommy Miller, Ryan Murphy, Tricia Pringle, Lindsay Ptasienski, Nicholas Seamon and T.J. Wukitsch.

Tuesday/Thursday p.m.: T.J. Cross, Seth Davis, Gage Frasermer, Joey Fratini, Katie Green, Jackie Guido, Kira Haley, Paul

Juergens, Brandon Lang, Michael Lehmann, Dylan Lichter, Matthew Marcuccilli, Meghan Shanahan, Paige Tybor, Frankie Walsh, John Werchek, Kaitlyn White and Rachel Wolf.

Dear "big" schools, please guide them and love them as we have done, for they are all truly special little people who will make excellent future leaders, if given love, encouragement and opportunities.

AUGS

The Antioch Upper Grade School Math Team recently competed at the high school against all other feeder schools. Anna Morley had the highest score of any of the 30 contestants and Josh Mack had the second highest score.

Other members of the first place team are Sho Kent, Reggie Hughes, Megan Tripp and Kelly Kurtz. Congratulations.

Several AUGS students displayed their beautiful art work at the Lakes Region Historical Society's Art Show sponsored by the Antioch Women's Club. Selected for awards were: Third place, Kristin Lynch, "Rosebowl" (clay); honorable mentions: Amy Eng, "City at Christmas" (pencil drawing); Corey Fauser "Batman" (pencil drawing); and Aeron Kaster, "Composition: Red and Blue" (tempra).

Princess wannabe

Scott and Cindy Marquart were so busy on a particular Sunday that they forgot to stop and fill up the almost empty gas tank of Cindy's car. Monday morning it was business as usual in the Marquart house. First Scott left for work and then the boys hopped aboard the school bus.

As Cindy sat with her morning coffee, she mentally reviewed all she needed to accomplish for the day. Many of her chores were errands. Suddenly she remembered her gas gauge read empty.

Almost as quickly she recalled one of her errands was a visit to the bank, until which time she was "penniless."

She called Scott at work and he agreed to meet her at the local gas station with the necessary cash for a fillup. When Cindy pulled into the station, she saw Scott coming, so she went directly to one of the pumps. In the next aisle a gentleman stood pumping gas into his car.

When Scott pulled in and began to fill Cindy's car with gasoline, check her oil, and in turn go in to pay for it, Cindy noticed the man shaking his head at what appeared to be a "Princess Wannabe," obviously afraid to get her hands dirty. Cindy chuckled to herself, thinking "great story for Hometown Goodies."

If Mr. Head Shaker is reading this, Cindy wants him to know she can pump gas and check her own oil, too—that is when she has the money in her pocket to do so!

ACHS

Tonya Keel, an ACHS student who attends the Lake County Area Vocational Center in the Medical Assistance Program, participated in the Illinois Health Occupation Students of America (HOSA) State Conference. Tonya received a first place in Clinical Medical Assisting, which qualifies her to participate at the National Conference in Nashville, Tenn. June 22 to 26. Good luck to you, Tonya.

Several ACHS students who attend the Lake County Area Vocational Center in various programs competed in the Illinois Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) and received the following awards: Kim Cashmore (cosmetology, fourth); Ryan Garrett (carpentry, sixth); Nick Heelein (welding, third); Brian Hribar (air cooled engine repair, sixth); Andrew Konrath (creative photo/black and white, third); Andrew Konrath (commercial photography, fifth); Joshua Pompeo (commercial photography, second); Tina Stochmal (nursing assistant, second); and Molley Swearingen (cosmetology, third). Congratulations.

Dreamcoat

Twenty-three students from Antioch Upper Grade School have been dreaming of an opportunity to perform with Donny Osmond in the Chicago Theatre's production of "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat." They passed the first audition and the second, and went on to the final round. Four choirs will be selected to perform in the "Joseph" production from mid-July until October.

The Select Choir, under the direction of Catherine Miller, is made up of 23 students from sixth, seventh and eighth grade. Choir members are: Abby Alder,

June? June? June? That's right, folks, June is here and within the next week all of our local school children will begin their summer vacations. This naturally means that young people will be out and about more on bicycles, roller skates, or on foot. So please drive extra carefully and always be prepared to slam on your breaks should a small child get in the path of your vehicle. Remember you can't put an adult's head on a kid's shoulders.

Now I wish the following Antioch area people a very happy June birthday and many more to come. Happy Birthday to Rich Cheterbok, Danny Clarke, Leslie Collins, Alex Richard Dunfrund, Laura Falcone, Heidi Gwinn, Craig Hancock, Jake Harkness, Janet Harrison, John Kasprzak, Korin Knutson, Greg Laube, Ariana Neuner, Darlene Olenick, Marlene Olsen, Sr., Bill Parenti, Christopher Schaller, Bertha Schmehl, Sophie Schmehl, Erin Siobhan Shanahan and Justin Ward.

Antioch is blooming

Have you noticed as you drive through downtown Antioch, that things are changing? Have you counted the numerous changes—some gradual, others sudden—that are happening?

There will be something new in front of Dolly's Second Showing—lots of merchandise and lots of bags just waiting to be stuffed full all for a flat rate of $5 per bag. If you've ever thought of being a bag lady (or man), now's the time. On Friday, June 3 take advantage of Dolly's Outdoor Bag Sale and indoor savings extravaganza.

It might look like there's a new store in town. New siding, new signs, new doors, new tile, new awnings...a whole new look to an old friend...Jack's Four Squires. Stop by and congratulate Jack and Sandi on a job well done.

I noticed that most of the kites are missing from storefronts. The Kite Fly and kite give-away was a good example of what living in a small town is all about: community spirit and involvement. Plans are already underway for next year's Kite Fly, so mark your calendars now.

Summer is a busy season in Antioch. There are many activities and promotions planned. June will bring lots of blooming plants and sprucing up. July kicks off with the fourth. Fireworks, a parade and festivities at William's Park makes a perfect weekend for families and friends.

July also brings the now famous "Taste of Antioch" which combines with Maxwell Street Days for an unbeatable combination: food and bargains galore. Mark your calendars for July 21 through 24. There's an outstanding line-up of entertainment for the Taste, along with great food and beverage booths. This year brings even more entertainment for the little ones in your family, so be sure you bring the whole family!

Besides hot weather, August brings an Arts and Crafts Fair to downtown Antioch. You'll find vendors showing their wares on the weekend of Aug. 13 and 14. This year they'll be setting up their booths at various locations in downtown Antioch. If you miss them in August, you'll get another opportunity in September, during the weekend of Sept. 10 and 11. Be sure to mark your calendars for both months.

Stay tuned for Labor Day weekend...

Sign up for park's summer day camp

Day camp

This year's camp will be filled with games, arts and crafts, sports, swimming and field trips. Choose five days a week three weeks in a row and receive a free pool pass to be used outside of camp. Each child will need to bring a sack lunch each day. Children ages 4 through 10 are welcome. The camp will take place at the Scout House/Williams Park from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday, beginning June 13. A $25 deposit will be required to register; fees are $70 a week or $15 a day for village residents, $85 a week or $18 a day for township residents and $90 a week or $19 a day for other residents. Discounts are given for second and third

Adult tennis league

Anyone 18 and over may join this league. All games will be played at Jensen Park beginning the week of June 13. Those interested in playing women's singles, men's singles or mixed doubles, register with the parks and recreation department. The department will take names and make pairings. Game time and dates will be determined by the players.

Sand volleyball league

Anyone 18 and over can join this co-ed league. All games will be played at Williams Park. Teams must have at least six members, but no more than eight. Each team will be required to provide one ball and call their own lines. Bring a completed team roster when registering at the parks and recreation office. Games will begin the week of June 13. Cost is $80 a team plus $5 for each member not a village resident.

Pool passes

Once again, the Antioch Aqua Center is offering family and individual pool passes. Prices are as follows: individual passes, $30 village, $40 township and $50 other; family passes (four total), $75 village, $90 township, $100 other, and $7.50 each additional person over four. Proof of residency is required when purchasing passes. Passes may be purchased at the pool during regular hours beginning Saturday, June 4.

Church joins Child Welfare League

Hudelson Baptist Children's Home of Centralia became a member of the Child Welfare League of America (CWLA), the nation's oldest association of agencies and organizations devoted to providing high quality services to abused, neglected and at-risk children, youth and families.

Hudelson serves vulnerable children and teenagers and their families from 10 counties in the state. Rev. Rohn D. Peterson, senior vice president, said the agency's services include residential facilities for children ages 6 to 17, a community-based crisis program and a community-based Families First program.

David S. Liederman, executive director of CWLA, said, "CWLA takes great pride in the work of our members. The complexity of social and human problems that families face today demand that child-serving agencies have available to them up-to-date child welfare information and first-rate professional expertise. We are proud Hudelson is now part of the country's most respected federation of child-serving organizations."

CWLA is 74 years old and is made up of more than 740 public and private agencies in the United States and Canada. Known internationally for setting standards of excellence for child welfare agencies, CWLA is the world's largest publisher of child welfare materials and advocates on Capitol Hill for public policy to benefit children and families.

Conservation Department gives boaters warnings

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

The Illinois Department of Conservation is warning boaters of safety precautions with the onset of boating season.

"Wearing life jackets and staying sober are the two most important actions boaters can take this boating season," state officials advised.

Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra; Barbara Cimaglio, acting director for the department of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse; and Conservation Director Brent Manning urged Illinoisans to act responsibly while enjoying the state's lakes and rivers.

Of the 32 individuals who died in boating-related accidents last year, evidence suggests 29 of them might have survived had they been wearing life jackets, said Manning.

He also explained that six of the fatalities involved situations where personal flotation devices were available on the boat but not worn.

"Our Conservation police officers see it time after time. There are insufficient life jackets on board, or they are inaccessible," Manning said. "Life jackets can live up to their name, but only if they are used."

State law requires personal flotation devices to be accessible in sufficient numbers for each person on a boat, but does not require that they be worn. Federal legislation, House Bill 3786, currently is being considered that would require children under the age of 12 to wear life jackets while in a boat.

Lt. Gov. Kustra, who coordinates the state's anti-drug efforts, said alcohol abuse continues to be a significant factor in many fatal boat accidents.

"The Coast Guard estimates 50 percent of boating fatalities nationwide involve alcohol," explained Kustra. "I urge Illinoisans operating boats to act responsibly. That means staying sober."

Like drivers, boat operators are considered legally intoxicated when they have a blood alcohol content of .10 or greater, noted Cimaglio.

"Just a few drinks can impair one's judgment and physical capabilities," Cimaglio said. "Whether you're on the highways or the waterways, alcohol use is dangerous. Don't take chances with your life or the lives of others."

Conservation Deputy Police Chief Tom Wakolbinger said an individual arrested for operating a boat while under the influence can be required to undergo chemical tests. Refusal to submit to testing can result in the suspension of watercraft operating privileges for one year. Conviction on charges of operating a boat while under the influence is punishable by up to one year in jail, a fine of up to $1,000, or both.

"Individuals should also keep in mind that a passenger's ability to save himself from drowning after a boat accident is greatly reduced if he is intoxicated," Wakolbinger said. "Responsible consumption is the law for operators. For passengers, staying sober could be a matter of life and death."

He went on to say that 134 boating accidents involving 163 operators were reported in Illinois last year, down from the 147 accidents reported in 1992 and down considerably from the 179 accidents reported in 1991.

The accidents resulted in injuries to 94 individuals. Of the 163 boats involved in accidents last year, 89 were at cruising speeds at the time of the accident.

Reports compiled by Conservation officers show most accidents last year occurred during daylight hours on clear days with good visibility and light wind. Sixty-two accidents occurred on calm waters.

The Department of Conservation is encouraging individuals of all ages to take a boating safety course. Of the 163 operators involved in accidents last year, nearly half, or 78, reported they had no formal boating instruction by the Conservation Department, the Coast Guard Auxiliary, the U.S. Power Squadron, the American Red Cross or other agencies.

The Conservation Department's free, eight-hour course covers basic boating safety, equipment requirements, navigation and other information. For more course information please call the Department of Conservation's Office of Law Enforcement at 1-800-832-2599, TDD 217-782-9175.

Sale of sales

For residents who love new-to-you items, stop over to Felters Subdivision this weekend. The subdivision is holding its annual subdivision-wide garage sale. The sale will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The subdivision is located off Route 173, west of Route 59; turn right on Addison Lane, which is the first street past the Country Store.

Investment seminar

On Thursday, June 9, at 7 p.m., the Antioch District Library will offer a program entitled "Risks and Rewards of Investing." It will be presented by Robert A. Mecca, a certified financial planner. The seminar will be held at the Antioch Senior Center located at 817 Holbek Drive. There is no charge for the program and sign-up will be at Antioch Library.

Village Board meeting

The Antioch Village Board will meet on Monday, June 6 at the Antioch Village Hall. The meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. and the public is invited to attend.

Chain has most boating deaths

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

Statistics from the Illinois Department of Conservation note that Lake County had the highest number of deaths last year in boat-related accidents.

In 1993 there were four waterway deaths in Lake County. There were also 15 reported injury accidents on the Chain O' Lakes including Fox Lake, the Fox River, Grass Lake, Petite Lake, and Pistakee Lake. Lake Zurich and Lake Michigan were also counted.

Mike McNally, assistant chief for the Fox Lake Fire and Rescue Department said he's reported no deaths last year on Fox Lake, the biggest lake on the Chain.

And he also happily reported no boating accidents this Memorial Day weekend on the lake south of the Grass Lake Bridge.

In McHenry County there were no fatalities on the water in 1993, but there were four reported accidents.

Kane County deaths in boating accidents came in second with three fatalities last year, and four accidents.

Other Illinois counties that had two deaths include Knox, Macoupin, Mason, Pope, and Whiteside.

A few other areas had one reported death due to boating accidents totaling 32 in the entire state for 1993, and 134 accidents last year.

The Norway • October 15-22

Your muscle tone is tuned. Your skin is alive with health. And tomorrow, you'll dance in St. Thomas.

Being healthy. Participating. Looking and feeling the best you can.

They're the things that make us care about fitness. And what better place to practice fitness—and remind yourself of why—than in the sun and sea air of a beautiful ship, bound for the islands? A place that flat rings of health and feeling good.

But there's more to our Fitness and Beauty Cruise than that. For The Norway itself is a rather sensational fitness facility. Its glass-enclosed Fitness Center has not only gorgeous views, but every imaginable piece of equipment—plus a 360-degree jogging track. And there's also a sumptuous Roman Spa (the only full-service spa at sea), to relax both you and your muscles.

We'll have nutritionists and exercise physiologists, who'll help you learn about health, fitness, and sports medicine. We'll have Samy, the one-of-a-kind make-over artist, who'll improve your good looks and show you how to keep doing it.

We'll have at least one great from the NFL to talk sports and fitness with. Since October is World Series time, we'll also have a baseball luminary on hand. Plus an NBA guest to talk about the season to come, and some of the world's great track and swimming stars to talk about upcoming competitions (superstars Mike Powell and Pablo Morales have been with us in the past).

All in all, the Fitness and Beauty Cruise is so much fun, it's entirely possible that you will forget just how good it is for you.

Clockwise: On-board aerobics (five merr), workouts in superlative facilities, and a refreshing jog around the track.

The Lindenhurst Bullets girls traveling softball team hosted Mundelein in a doubleheader.

The first game saw strong pitching from both teams, with Mundelein coming out on top by a score of 8-7. The Bullets led for most of the game but fell victim to a late inning rally by the visiting team.

The Bullets pitchers were starter Kelly Kotlarz, who pitched 4 innings, giving up 4 runs on 5 walks and 4 strikeouts. In relief was Gina Seedorf, 3 inning allowing 4 runs on 6 walks and one strikeout.

The Bullets offense was led by Ami Carlberg and Kelly Kotlarz, both with 2 RBIs. Megs Kotlarz scored 2 runs and Katie Anderson had 2 hits.

The second game was an explosion of runs led by a 11 run third inning for the Bullets.

Mundelein again tried to rally in the last inning, but this time fell short.

The starting pitcher for the Bullets was Kristin Scopel who pitched 3 innings giving up 7 runs on 8 walks with no strikeouts. In relief was Jenny Peiffer pitching 2 innings, allowing 10 runs on 11 walks and 1 strikeout.

The 19 run assault was led by Sho Kent and Megs Kotlarz, both scoring 3 runs and Teri Fasano, Kristin Scopel and Jenny Peiffer each scoring twice. The RBI leaders at 3 each were Shannon Foster, Katie Anderson and Ami Carlberg.

The hit parade was led by Jenny Peiffer with 3 and Megs Kotlarz, Katie Anderson, Carlberg and K. Kotlarz with two apiece. Strong defense was played by Angie Kendziora, Dana Spandet and Erin Walsh.

Lindenhurst teams place well in tournament

Four of the Lindenhurst boys' soccer teams competed in the Park Ridge Tournament over the Memorial Day weekend and three of them received awards after winning their way into the playoffs.

The Park Ridge Tournament is an annual event, with 232 teams competing this year.

Eagles

The Eagles (U-13) placed second in their division after outscoring their preliminary round competitors 15-4 while gaining two victories and a tie.

The Eagles, coached by Roland Wetzol, faced teams from Bettendorf, Iowa, Lake Forest, and the host community of Park Ridge before being edged by Stingers Select of Lisle in the championship game.

Sequoits end baseball season, look forward to next

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Antioch's baseball season came to a close in the McHenry regional opener against Fox Valley Conference powerhouse Crystal Lake Central.

Crystal Lake made the most of its eight hits against Antioch pitcher Eric Eckenstahler, who only received three hits from his offense in the 8-1 loss.

"He (Eckenstahler) was pitching fine. I was happy with his performance," said Antioch Coach Paul Petty. "You don't win too many games with three hits."

Antioch senior baseball players may have come to the game a little flat, Petty said, because graduation ceremonies were held the night before.

"We didn't come to play. The seniors didn't get their money's worth," Petty said of the seniors' final game.

Seniors who played in their last high school baseball game included Matt DeMartini, Casey O'Connell, Tom Furlan, Mike Gedville, Henry Schmidt and Dave Jones.

Grabbing the three hits for Antioch were Eric Campbell with a single and Eckenstahler, who had a single and double.

The Sequoits did not score until the seventh inning. After Eckenstahler doubled, Chris Paserella stepped in as a pinch-runner. He scored after two wild pitches.

Antioch finished the year 13-21-1 overall and 7-9 in the North Suburban Conference. Last year, Antioch managed only four wins.

"Overall, I think we made some good progress," Petty said. "A lot of kids came a long way in terms of fielding."

Antioch also suffered from many one-game losses this season. Petty noted that this year's team played and practiced with a lot of heart and determination.

"We didn't take one day off in terms of practice days," said Petty, whose team showed up at the crack of dawn for practice early on. "I never felt once that they didn't want to practice."

The baseball program as well as the other athletic programs may be receiving a boost as freshman athletics may be reinstated

next season

Petty said a lot of players were cut and missed the opportunity to compete this season because of the lack of a freshman squad.

"I cut a lot of quality baseball players because of the numbers game," Petty said. "I told the kids to hang on."

Petty added that he looks forward to next year's team with with the brother duo of Eric and Kevin Eckenstahler leading the battery and Eric Campbell providing the leadership in the infield and at the plate.

Carmel nine follows rules: right to spot at sectional

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

In the beginning, there was Billy Ball.

Now, there are the Gandolfi Rules.

The Carmel baseball mentor has an aggressive style of coaching which has taken Carmel to post-season heights in the last four years.

In a game that featured drama, excitement, a huge comeback and of course, controversial calls, Carmel outlasted Mundelein 4-3 for the Mundelein regional championship.

Jeff Bunker, who started the game as the starting pitcher, did not mind eating a little dust while many were cooking up their Memorial Day grills. For while the dust was in his face, his hand was on home plate as he scored after a rare Kyle Kessel wild pitch.

"They are to expect a wild pitch when they are at third base - that is the rule," Gandolfi said.

With two out, Bunker had the steal sign and stole third almost uncontested.

"We knew he (Kessel) would be cocky. We had to take advantage of that," Bunker said.

Kessel had shutout the Corsairs 10-0 in 10 innings in the regular season's final week.

Kessel owned Carmel for the first six innings, striking out 11, including seven straight.

Bunker, meanwhile, struggled as he tried to get the game to Brian Buckingham.

Mundelein (20-13) scored two runs in the second inning. Catcher Pat Goodman was the hero then, with a 2-run single to score John Piland and Steve Schuler.

'Our experience helped us. Mundelein is not that experienced and we took advantage of that.'

—Carmel player Matt Head

Brian McMahon was hit by a pitch to start the sixth inning and later scored on a Carmel (19-17) error for a 3-0 lead.

The Mustangs were soon to be six outs away from joining the softball team as sectional entrants.

"I did not have my good stuff today, but I wanted to get us to keep the game close. I knew Brian was all right to pitch because he only threw 87 pitches the other day. We knew he was good enough for two or three innings," Bunker said.

"This makes up a lot for last year, losing 3-2 in 11 innings to Libertyville," Matt Head said.

"Our experience helped us. Mundelein is not that experienced and we took advantage of that," Head said.

Kessel, ending a stellar four-year career at MHS in baseball and basketball, said the Mustangs had a good season.

"No one expected us to get this far," he said.

Head said the team had confidence, even as the strikeouts mounted.

The last two innings were heartstoppers for the hundreds who lined the sidelines at Mundelein.

In the Mundelein seventh, Kessel singled, moved to second on an error by the center fielder, but was forced at third base. Buckingham retired the side on a strikeout.

Mundelein lost its lead but not the game in the CHS seventh.

Head reached on an error by the Mundelein third baseman, but was thrown out at the plate on a ground ball.

Matt Burens grounded back to the pitcher Kessel, who threw to first for one out, but Erik Janssens scored for a 3-3 tie.

The winning rally started in the eighth when leadoff man John Morris walked. He was later forced at third base.

But Mike Rapplean and Bunker walked and in between,

County grants extension to review Framework plan

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

After several outcries that due process was not being served, the Lake County Planning and Zoning Committee opted to grant municipalities 30 days to review several alternatives to the proposed update of the Lake County Framework Plan.

Specifically, municipalities will examine text that changed from prohibiting new urban districts outside municipal areas and limiting urban expansion in already existing developments to allowing new urban districts outside municipal areas at major (tollway) interchanges or transit stations.

The change asking for urban developments near major interchanges came in letter form to the planning and zoning committee from officials representing W.W. Grainger. The Skokie-based company is seeking a combination of urban, open space and estate zoning near Rte. 60 and I-94.

County Board member Carol Spielman also suggested several alternatives that allowed urban development "on rare occasions" near major infrastructure systems.

Representatives from Lake Forest, Long Grove, Lincolnshire and Mettawa as well as several County Board members from those areas protested the fact that they were not informed until May 24 that the Planning and Zoning Committee may vote on the Framework changes May 31, thus not allowing villages and the public adequate time to review the changes before a vote was made.

Most urged the committee to return to the original draft, which prohibited new urban zoning outside municipal areas.

Citing a short notice and a long holiday weekend, Lake Forest attorney Patrick Lucanski said Lake Forest officials were not able to review the proposals.

"We're asking you not to deny us due process at this late stage," he said. Officials from Lincolnshire, Long Grove and Mettawa echoed similar comments and asked for a 30-day extension.

After granting the 30-day extension, Planning and Zoning Chairman Richard Raftis said it was unfortunate that the Grainger and Framework Update issues were coming to the committee almost simultaneously. He said both issues are different and separate from each other.

"Grainger has applied for rezoning through the proper channels, which it has the right to do," Raftis said.

He also noted a conflict between not allowing new urban zoning outside municipal areas completely and allowing it near major interchanges.

"It makes good planning sense to have major developments close to our roads," Raftis said.

County Board member Pam Newton said there were language problems in the alternatives that she would like to further investigate.

She does not think Prairie View, for example, would be an area suited for urban development. Under the proposal for new urban development near "transit stations," Prairie View could be a future site for new urban development because of See EXTENSION page B2

Outing turns to tragedy, youth drowns

NEAL TUCKER

Memorial Day weekend is traditionally the first weekend that kicks off the summer outdoor season. May 30 was a classic for outside activities with soaring temperatures and sunny skies.

Unfortunately, for one Round Lake Beach family, Memorial Day became a tragedy. Joseph Boyle, 19, of Round Lake Beach, drowned during a boating accident at Highland Lake in unincorporated Grayslake.

According to witnesses, Boyle and Tony Moore of Fox Lake acquired a row boat from a private residence on the lake's shore. The two paddled the boat, taken without permission, approximately 200 yards off shore to the middle of the lake. From that point on, details are sketchy.

At the scene, Grayslake Fire Chief Don Mobley said that several stories had been circulating about how Boyle may have drowned. One report had the pair diving off of the boat and swimming in the middle of the lake. Mobley was unclear if the boat had even capsized to cause the accident.

"The boat was still floating and drifted to the northern shore where we found it," Mobley said.

He went on to say that even if the boat had capsized, it would still float. Most modern boats have air chambers under their seats that help the vessel act as a buoy in the event of a capsizing.

Twelve separate rescue agencies responded to the call around 3 p.m. Memorial Day, undertaking an intense search for the next hour. Mobley said that victims can be resuscitated for up to an hour after drowning based on several factors, including water temperature. The temperature at the bottom of Highland Lake, which is privately owned by a homeowners association, registers at a very favorable 38 degrees.

Despite the efforts of several rescue agencies that remained on the scene, Boyle's body was not recovered until 4:10 p.m. Tuesday afternoon, in the general area that rescuers expected to find it.

Mobley said the conditions in the deepest part of the lake where the search took place caused more difficulty than expected. Divers gave up on their hand search of the lake's bottom and reverted to dragging the lake at approximately 3:30 p.m., Tuesday.

"Our divers cannot even read their gauges because of the darkness. The lake has a very silty bottom and is covered with vegetation," Mobley said. "We feel badly about our results. We really worked long and hard in our recovery efforts. We feel for the family and what they must be going through right now."

An autopsy was to be conducted Wednesday.

Zon loses ballot challenge for school post

Sylvia Zon, the Democratic choice for Regional Superintendent of Schools, will not appear on the ballot in November. The final decision was made by the Lake County Electoral Board after a challenge had been made by former regional superintendent William Thompson.

Thompson, of Antioch, challenged Zon's filing when she failed to include a certification from the State Board of Education of her qualifications. There are certain requirements in the statute in order to be qualified. See ZON page B2 fied to run for the position of regional superintendent. "The certification needs to be filed along with the petition in order to be placed on the ballot," said election board Deputy Paul Kristoffersen. The vote by the board was unanimous.

Board members included County Clerk Linda Hess, Circuit Court Clerk Sally Coffelt, and Assistant State's Attorney Mitchell Hoffman. While Zon had the necessary qualifications for the position, the board ruled that she failed to meet the statutory requirements for filing.

Zon was named the Democratic choice several weeks ago along with a number of other candidates for the vacant offices. Along with Zon, Nancy Sass Scotillo of Barrington was named by Lake County Democratic Central Chairman Terry Link for the state senate seat in the 26th district.

Other Democratic candidates tagged are Jayna Ashbacher of Round Lake Beach for State Representative for the 52nd District; James Yonker of Libertyville for State Representative for the 61st District; and Phyllis Lucas of Lindenhurst for State Representative for the 62nd District.

"We are extremely pleased to have found these highly qualified and dedicated candidates to represent the Democratic party," said Link. "We look forward to a successful campaign and great turn-out for the November election."

County Board member Carol Calabresa said she would like to see a greater commitment from corporate bodies to maintain the natural "habitat" near their facilities.

All were satisfied with the committee's decision to postpone a vote until June 30 on the proposed changes.

"It's our job to be missionaries to our municipalities," said County Board member and committee member Larry Leafblad.

Centenarians wanted for celebration

The Lake County Forest Preserve is putting a call out to all centenarians, who are invited to attend a special recognition ceremony during the 22nd Annual Seniors Day Celebration.

A grand salute to all those Lake County residents who have reached the golden age of 100 will be held at Lakeland Forest Preserve near Wauconda on Route 176 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. June 22.

Any relatives or friends who know someone born prior to 1895 is requested to contact the Forest Preserve office at 367-6640, and ask to speak with Lonna Van Cleave, coordinator of special events.

Last year, 14 centenarians were recognized at the event, which drew more than 5,000 senior citizens from throughout Lake County. Centenarians need not be present at the noontime ceremony to receive special recognition.

School boards adopt resolution

LAKE VILLA—Grayslake Community High School District 127 and Lake Villa Elementary District 41 adopted a measure allowing a vote on the Lake Villa Unit School District within their boundaries. Of the districts affected, only the Millburn School District board has refused to adopt the resolution for the November ballot.

Board differs on development

LINDENHURST—Trustees Kris Volodka and David Erickson took the opposite view of the rest of the village board on a concept plan for a proposed development off Golden Road. The concept plan was approved after Volodka objected to the approval procedure the board was using and questioned the density of the project.

Science team has strong finish

GRAYSLAKE—The Science Olympiad team from Grayslake Middle School placed 22nd in the national competition out of more than 10,000 teams in the country. The team journeyed to Tucson, Ariz. to compete May 17-24 after finishing second in the state competition. The team finished first in egg drop competition and also received the first place trophy for team spirit. This marks the second consecutive year the team has qualified for national competition.

Postal employee pleads guilty

GRAYSLAKE—A former Grayslake postal employee has pleaded guilty to a state theft crime. Michele Artelt, 36, of Round Lake had been charged with dumping 322 pieces of mail April 2. For her plea, Artelt received a reduced penalty of six months of court supervision and a $200 fine.

Students help burn victims

LAKE ZURICH—Students at May Whitney Elementary school banded together in a year-long fund-raising project to help young burn victims attend the Burn Camp sponsored by the Illinois Fire Safety Alliance. The students collected $650 which they donated to the alliance to help children who have been burned in fires attend a special camp during the summer break where they can be active and do things other children do while getting specialized assistance. The students themselves raised $145 by collecting cans, while other classes took in $355 by selling candy and Girl Scout Troop 700 and Brownie Troop 435 brought in approximately $250. The Lake Zurich Fire Department presented a check for $1,000, which was collected during "Fill the Boot Day" collections in the village.

Giveaway keeps kids active

WAUCONDA—One lucky Wauconda High School senior may be driving around town this weekend showing off the car they won in the Third Annual Lucky Senior Car Giveaway, in what has been an effective way to keep students active in school during their final year before graduation. "We thought this would help students think twice about skipping school and give them a little incentive to do better," said Steve Boehmer, vice president of the auto dealership. They modified the idea from a Wisconsin auto dealer who provided a used car to students who stayed in school, making a few improvements so more students would have a chance to participate. Students did not have to get straight A's in order to win, but needed to maintain at least a 2.5 grade point average or better throughout their final year in high school. They also need to participate in at least one school related extracurricular activity, have their parent's or guardian permission and have no more than three excused absences.

Freshman sports return

ANTIOCH—The Antioch Community High School Board of Education has decided to re-institute freshman sports for the '94-'95 school year. The program was cut as the school began to face financial difficulties. The re-institution of freshman sports comes with a price tag, however. The cost to participate in any level sports program at Antioch Community High School will be $150.

Woodland OKs new position

GAGES LAKE—With detentions and suspensions on the rise, Woodland Middle School officials sought a way to solve the problem. The answer: a student intervention coordinator. Woodland School Board members agreed, approving the position by a 5-1 vote. Catherine Osborne voted no.

24-year old accosts 14-year olds

ROUND LAKE BEACH—A 24-year old resident of Round Lake Beach has been charged in an attack on two 14-year-olds. Aurelio M. Soto was charged with sexual assault, two counts of battery, aggravated sexual abuse and two counts of unlawful restraint. According to reports he watched the two 14-year-old girls who play in the park. Later it was reported he bit the neck of one girl and forced sexual intercourse upon another in a field where they ran to escape from him. The girls were examined at Condell Hospital in Libertyville and are reported to be in good condition, but are still traumatized by the event, said police.

Cuneo park space questioned

VERNON HILLS—Officials from the Vernon Hills Park District have many questions about park space available in the proposed Cuneo development. Officials are unclear about certain proposals in the plan. The Zale Group, developers of Cuneo, has donated 60 acres to the park district. The standard is for developers to donate 10 acres of land per 1,000 people. Because of the various types of housing (single-family homes, townhomes and condominiums) and without having formal population projections, park district officials don't know if the 60-acre donation is adequate.

Fox Lake Legion plans parade

FOX LAKE—The American Legion Post 703 announced they are gearing up for a patriotic parade to take place in Fox Lake July 4. The theme will appropriately be "Proud to be an American," and will be commemorating the 75th anniversary of the American Legion. American Legion State Commander Arthur Rawers of Bloomington will be leading off the parade through town. The event will be coordinated by CHOICES, the substance abuse prevention team, and is sponsored by the Village of Fox Lake and the American Legion. Applications for floats and performers may be picked up at the Chamber Office. For details, contact Dorothy Otte at 587-2179 or Judith Prasil at 587-7175.

Butterfield wins Blue Ribbon

LIBERTYVILLE—The timing couldn't have been better. All the students, teachers and staff of Butterfield School were gathered for a 9 a.m. awards assembly May 27 when the phone rang with news about an even more extraordinary award to be shared by everyone. Principal Joe Wilson took the call. On the other end was a representative of the U.S. Department of Education who informed him that Butterfield School has been selected to receive the Blue Ribbon Award of Excellence.

School sites down to three

LINCOLNSHIRE—Lincolnshire-Prairie View School District 103 could have a site for a new school pinned down within the next week, school officials said. In March, the board decided to build a new school for grades three, four and five, add 10 classrooms to Daniel Wright Junior High School and build a new gym there. The school board investigated more than 20 possible sites for a new school and it has whittled down that number to three, with serious negotiations ongoing with one of those three. The current enrollment stands at 1,298 with a projected enrollment of more than 1,940 by the year 2000.

Savage sentenced to 20 years in deaths

SPENCER SCHEIN

Staff Reporter

Gall Savage was sentenced to serve 20 years in the Illinois Department of Corrections for the smothering deaths of her three infants.

Savage, 31, of Wauconda, was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter in the death of Cynthia Savage, six-months-old, in July of 1993, by a Lake County jury after two weeks of testimony ending in early May.

A last minute negotiated plea of guilty to a similar charge for the deaths of three-week-old Amber in Feb. of 1992 and three-month-old Michael in November of 1990 was offered by the defense as a way to stave off upcoming trials in the other two deaths.

While the prosecution was disappointed she had been found guilty of involuntary manslaughter by a Lake County jury after two weeks of testimony, they are satisfied that justice has been served.

Lake County Assistant States Attorney Matthew Chancey said he was disappointed with the outcome of the first trial, but was satisfied that the jury could see she killed her children.

He said he could not see how a situation of killing someone that took up to three minutes could be considered involuntary.

"Under the circumstances, I think 20 years is fair," Chancey said.

"While she did kill her three children, she isn't your typical criminal suspect," he said.

During the trial, Savage was determined to have a low IQ, suffers from epilepsy and was reported to have tried to kill herself on two separate occasions.

In the plea agreement, Savage was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter for all three of her infants. Lake County Circuit Court Judge Charles Scott sentenced her to serve consecutive 10-year-terms for the deaths of Cynthia and Amber and a concurrent five-year-term for the death of Michael. Chancey said the defense also agreed to not file appeals on any of the three cases.

Savage could be released in 10 years if she serves her time in good behavior, based on the State's one day off for every one day of good behavior program.

Chancey said she would initially be sent to the Dwight Correctional Facility, and could ultimately serve her time there or at the correctional center in Dixon.

Savage was arrested in early September 1993 after confessing in an interview with Lake County Sheriff's investigators to smothering her babies with a blanket.

Both she and her husband James said the infants had died of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome, which was listed as the cause of death for Michael. A national investigation of SIDS experts was started after Cynthia died July 28, 1993. That investigation culminated in Savage's arrest.

James Savage was never charged with having any involvement in the case.

Forest Preserve buys pristine wetland near Wauconda

SPENCER SCHEIN

Staff Reporter

The Lake County Forest Preserve District has made the first in what is projected to be a number of purchases to protect pristine wetland areas from future developments.

The County board approved purchasing the Broberg Marsh, a 73-acre piece of land near Wauconda on Bonner and Wauconda roads, that will become an addition to its spacious Lakewood Forest Preserve.

The property owned by the Grawe family is one of the last major areas surrounding Lakewood that now can be preserved, said Michael J. Fenelon, director of planning, conservation and development for the Forest Preserve.

"A key to protecting high quality wetlands is to protect the drainage coming in to them, which is the upland area surrounding the marsh," said Fenelon.

He said this will offer the agency the best chance of preserving the forest preserve.

Lake County Board Commissioner Mark Beaubien (R-Barrington Hills), said the county board authorized the purchase on May 27 and plan to formally approve the contract (with purchase price yet to be announced) at the June 17 board meeting.

"This is a valuable natural resource," he said. "Not many are left."

The marsh is classified as one that has a good balance between vegetation and open water that provides an excellent habitat for native waterfowl, including a number of endangered bird species.

"It's one of the most true marshlands remaining," Beaubien said.

He said the forest preserve owns approximately 90 percent of the surrounding upland, giving them a large amount of control of the land right above the preserve, which he said is almost equally important to owning it.

Approximately 40-acres of the marsh is farmland, and Fenelon said his department would be responsible for managing the wetland area as well as the vegetation.

Baubien said this management will give the agency control of what drains into the preserve and offer them the opportunity to control water flow and the types of vegetation planted.

The purchase is the first following the successful passage of a $30 million bond issue this past

November, which was to pay for the acquisition and preservation of new lands.

Fenelon said this is the first in a line of land purchases for the Forest Preserve District.

"We have a number of acquisitions under negotiation," he said.

Among the native wildlife biologists found during a one-day site visit were the nests of several threatened and endangered bird species, including Pied-billed Grebe, American Bittern, Black-crowned Night-Heron, Black Tern, Yellow-headed Blackbird and Common Moorhen. Endangered Least Bitterns and threatened Great Egrets were also scene.

The additional property will bring Lakewood's total acreage to 1,747 acres, and 18,873 for the total amount of Lake County Forest Preserves.

A Forest Preserve District statement indicates the property is located along the route of a proposed greenway trail corridor between Lakewood and the Round Lake area.

Baubien said the district plans to keep the marsh for passive use and have no plans for development. He said the first order of business once it is acquired will be to protect it and plant the types of vegetation they want.

Carnegie volunteers begin clean up

Ignoring chilly winds and rain, teams of volunteers spent several hours clearing out the landmark 1903 Carnegie building in Waukegan. Clean up day II will be scheduled in the near future as the single dumpster was overwhelmed by the task. At least one more load is waiting in the building. For the next clean up event the Carnegie Preservation Project is trying to find a benefactor to donate the dumpster and to haul away some refrigeration and air conditioning equipment.

This was the first of several summer events to aid in the restoration of the landmark Carnegie building. The Carnegie Preservation Project is soliciting volunteers for the next scheduled volunteer participation events at the Carnegie building; a landscaping day on Saturday, June 4 and a huge garage sale on Saturday, July 23.

Volunteers are needed for these events as are donations for the garage sale. All the events take place in and around the building on the northeast corner of Washington Street and Sheridan Road in downtown Waukegan. Those wishing to volunteer or to receive additional information are asked to call the Carnegie Preservation Project Hotline at 336-6703. Their mailing address is P.O. Box 8685, Waukegan, IL 60079-8685.

Bartels wins deRivera award

Charles and Teresa Bartels were announced as the winners of the Lake County Economic Development Commission's Charles E. deRivera Award at the EDC's Executive Breakfast on May 4. The Bartels are the owners of the local Manpower, Inc. franchise. Manpower is the world's largest temporary help firm. They have offices in Vernon Hills and Waukegan.

The EDC presents the deRivera award each year to a person or persons who have contributed to the community and/or economic development of Lake County.

During 1993, the Bartels were instrumental in the retention of the Great Lake Naval Training Center (NTC). They chaired the fundraising effort to retain Great Lakes NTC. The donated funds were used for the coordinated defense of Great Lakes. The Bartels dedicated much of their time and effort to the fundraising.

The donated funds were used to hire consultants who defended Great Lakes NTC before the Base Realignment and Closure Committee. Over $100,000 was raised in a very short period of time because of the Bartels' efforts. Their volunteer work paid huge dividends when Great Lakes NTC was left off the final closure list.

National fund selects professor for cancer study

Todd L. Sladek, Ph.D., assistant professor of microbiology and immunology at the Finch University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School, has been awarded a grant for $25,000 a year for up to three years by the Life & Health Insurance Medical Research Fund. Dr. Sladek is conducting research on the genetic and molecular basis of cancer.

After earning a bachelor's degree in microbiology at the University of Notre Dame in 1979, Dr. Sladek earned a master's degree in 1983 and a doctorate in 1984 in microbiology at the University of Rochester in New York. He completed his post-doctoral work at Duke University and

Case Western Reserve University and was selected as a recipient of NIH pre-doctoral fellowships

'Dr. Sladek is exceptionally talented and doing important and promising work.'

"The fund selected Dr. Sladek upon recommendation of an advisory panel of eminent scientists," said Eve Katz, Ph.D., executive director of the fund. "It was a highly competitive process. Dr. Sladek is exceptionally talented and doing important and promising work."

The Medical Research Fund is supported by voluntary contributions from member companies of the American Council of Life Insurance, the Health Insurance Association of American and other insurance groups. Chicago insurance companies that contribute to the fund are Mutual Trust, United and U.S. Life, the Allstate Foundation and the Trustmark Foundation.

The fund makes awards for work in basic biomedical research to prevent and treat major health problems, such as heart disease, cancer, AIDS and other immune disorders. Six competitive grants for young researchers and six competitive scholarships for M.D. and Ph.D. students were awarded nationwide for 1993-94.

Managed care controls health care costs

Managed care experts are pointing to their successful track record as evidence that government imposed cost controls are the worst way to control health care costs.

First they cite the fact that HMOs are holding their rate increases to between four and five percent. Some large employers and purchasing pools have actually been able to negotiate rate decreases.

While controlling costs, managed care plans increase the use of certain preventive health care services. HMOs immunize twice as many children as traditional insurance plans, screen two-and-a-half times more women for breast cancer and provide people with more annual physicals and wellness programs. HMO members also like the treatment they get. A Consumers Union survey found 91 percent of HMO members were satisfied with their primary care doctor.

Managed Care plans have also been implementing other innovative health reform measures in the interest of quality and cost efficiency. Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois, for example, is working with Illinois physicians and medical specialty groups to gradually implement a program of medical practice guidelines for certain procedures and medical conditions.

The guidelines put forth by Blue Cross are based on the research and literature of leading medical experts. The program will help all doctors stay up to date with the latest medically appropriate treatments, thus improving the level of care available throughout the managed care network.

These type of private sector initiatives, however, would be jeopardized by price controls and other anti-managed care initiatives, industry experts say.

"We've seen that long term investments made in the private sector have already paid off by providing cost-effective, high quality health care to a growing number of Americans," according to Raymond F. McCaskey, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois chief executive officer. "Future innovation would be jeopardized under government price controls."

'Peace' precludes need for housing

County politicians are patting themselves on the back over a small change in the "frame work" plan for future growth and development that has been hailed as a compromise between pro-growth and anti-growth forces.

The change provides for developer donations of open space for public use in exchange for permission to push ahead on commercial construction.

County Board Rep. Dick Raftis (R-Wildwood), chairman of the Planning Committee, is taking the position that the compromise is pleasing to both factions in the on-going debate over how Lake County's diminishing supply of buildable land is utilized. In a nutshell, the plan as it exists today provides for urban districts targeted for commercial development that will have sectors of open space.

Seemingly, the concessions will provide for a peaceful veil to descend over Lake County's troubled buildable space.

The truth is that developers have discovered that inclusion of open space cuts in two major ways—both to the advantage of the builders. 1. The open space gifts will tend to get anti-growth proponents off their backs. 2. Inclusion of open space hikes land values with resultant higher profits, a realization that residential developers only recently have appreciated and understood, again, with generous enhancement to the return on their investment.

While the provision for development and open space side-by-side may provide for a semblance of peaceful co-existence, predictable future commercial growth will create new jobs with pressure on housing needs closely following. In the current atmosphere of rising land values, the kind of housing needed for middle and lower income families that the job market is creating isn't getting built. Only upscale housing results, the kind with parks and lakes that higher income families are able to purchase.

Now that the pro-growthers and anti-growthers are in agreement on how the future will be shaped (momentarily, at least), it would do well that both sides turn attention to how housing will be provided for employees of the companies that are sure to come.

Toll coins hasten rush to suburbs

Heavy thinkers (that precludes politicians by definition) are coming around to the realization that toll road commuters unwittingly force up their tax bills with daily toll contributions.

Somehow, they reason, this doesn't make sense.

That bit of transportation irony results when legislators give permission to the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority to construct more miles of highways, most of which are directed to the suburbs so residents there will have an easier drive to work and can toss more coins into the collection box, and so forth.

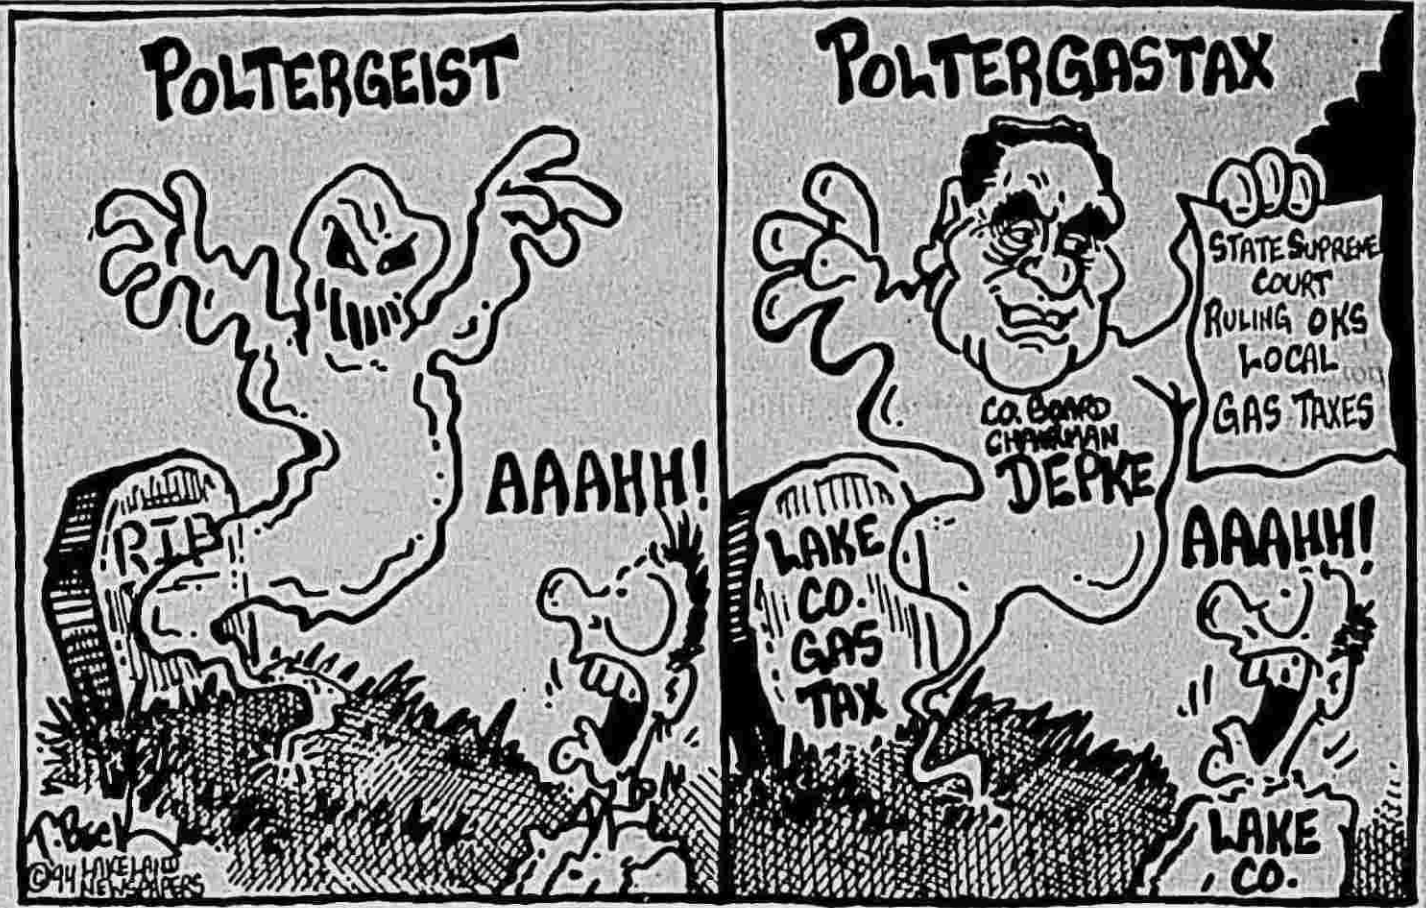

R. Bruce Dold, Pulitzer Prize-winning editorialist, wonders about the cost of the push to the suburbs in terms of building new schools when we can't afford the old ones, infrastructure replacement and construction, propping up mass transit and meeting pollution mandates. Our region is working at cross purposes, Dold frets.

The General Assembly gave the greenlight to sell bonds so extensions of I-355 and Rte. 53 can be built. Since suburban Republican legislators love highways and Chicago Democrats have other fish to fry, the road building likely will continue.

Instead of listening to the morning drive talk shows, commuters would do well to ponder the link between their toll charges and escalating real estate taxes. Solving the dilemma could make a big difference in all our lives.

Consensus on crime would spell progress

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

If there's anything shared by liberals and conservatives, besides air breathed and space occupied on this planet, it's a preoccupation with crime.

In Illinois alone, liberals and conservatives annually produce enough hot air debating crime to heat a good-sized city during a cold, cold spell like the winter of 1993-94. That's a heap o' heat!

One of the popular pastimes of the day is pondering the progress that could be made in the battle against crime if only extremism on either end of the political spectrum could be shelved, or at least come under a cease fire.

Liberals focus only on prevention; conservatives are hung up on punishment. U.S. Sen. Bill Bradley (D-N.J.) garnered headlines and caught the attention the other day of columnists with the assertion: "We need both and more."

A Wall Street Journal/NBC News poll showed that there may be a national consensus on crime developing. A hefty 62% of conservatives think banning semi-automatic weapons would be effective. A somewhat astounding 69% of liberals think parents should be held responsible for crime committed by their children.

If the two sides are coalescing on crime and violence, liberals need to relax a bit on a stand like an all-out ban on guns, and such other favorite theories as death row racial quotas, hiring more police, enacting more social programs and counseling, and holding rock-solid to societal responsibility, the so-called "rage syndrom."

Conservatives would do well to moderate stands on building more prisons, mandatory death sentences, expansion of felony crimes, mandatory life sentences for repeaters and turning public housing into armed compounds.

Consensus and compromise have all been lost in national public debate. Both liberals and conservatives ought to mount the high ground and attack crime and violence together.

A good starting point would be agreement on a salient fact:

when a 357 Magnum is held to your head it makes little difference if a deprived and troubled 13-year-old or a hardened, professional criminal pulls the trigger.

JOLLY RIDE—If and when Rte. 53 gets built, the route through Mundelein could be a sort of "Great America West" if requirements of village officials are met.

At certain points the village council wants the proposed superhighway depressed—to minimize noise. At Midlothian Rd., Hawley St. and Rte. 176, council members want 53 elevated. Talk about a roller-coaster ride. And to think at one time Mundelein officially opposed Rte. 53!

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Any day now, a second floor bedroom in the old homestead will blossom forth as a nursery now that Erika and John are getting to "overnight" age. Pop retrieved a crib from the dark recesses of the attic. Wonder what else is in storage that grandchildren can use?

Negative attitudes hurt morale of police dept.

ANDREW M. JONES

Over six years ago I took a position with the Village of Lindenhurst as a police officer.

Since I started, I've seen and done many things, but there is something I've seen of late that greatly disturbs me. "Cop bashing" seems to have become a pastime with many people.

It would be foolish of me to say that some officer's actions haven't contributed to this dilemma, but it seems to me that the majority of good officers are suffering for the actions of the minority of bad officers.

Why is it that when an officer does something incorrect or even bad, we are inundated with it in the papers and on TV? We seldom seem to find the good things officers do on the front page of the newspaper or as part of the evening news special secret squirrel undercover investigative report.

Why does it appear that our media and our society feed off the bad that occurs?

I have encountered parents who would rather question the actions of the police than face the fact that their child was in possession of stolen property or using drugs or alcohol.

We have residents who call in and complain that they never see a police car on their street, while on the same street we've had different residents call and ask why we keep driving by their homes.

There are always people who call or write to complain about the "Lindenhurst speed trap," yet while we are handling an accident, we have residents along the road ask us why we're not slowing more people down.

Some days it seems much harder than others to remain satisfied with my job. I am very thankful for those residents of my community who take the time to call, write or stop by the station to say, "You did a See COMMENTARY page B7

PARTY LINES

Crane changes stand on PAC contributions

Early PAC (political action committee) contributors to Congressman Phil Crane (R-Illinois) reads like a Who's Who of northern Illinois business and industry.

Crane broke a long-standing PAC ban, citing that 95 percent of all members of Congress accept PAC funds, and the high cost of campaigning as his reasons.

Early Crane PAC contributors include Allstate, Ameritech, Baxter, CF Industries, Kemper, Motorola, Northrop, Sears, United Air Lines and UPS.

With the approach of the summer campaign season, Crane said his campaign fund was "nearly at zero" after his primary opponents spent over $1 million. The veteran Congressman who resides in Wauconda said he would agree to set aside PAC monies if his opponent agrees to do likewise as well as not spending personal funds.

Name change—Former Curb Over-Development (COD), an open space advocacy group operating out of Grayslake, has reorganized as Illinois Citizen Action (ICA) with headquarters in Libertyville. William Holleman is chairman and Earl Johnson will continue as executive director.

ICA is in favor of preserving wetlands as a flood control measure to avoid high taxes in connection with construction of water detention projects. ICA is looking into wetlands destruction seen as part of the proposed extension of Yorkhouse Rd.

High tech—CASS (Citizens Against Suburban Sprawl) is distributing technical aerial photographs in full color to show how the Des Plaines River corridor is a natural buffer between high density development in the Conway Farms area and Vernon Hills—the "war zone" where W.W. Grainger hopes to build its headquarters.

CASS reasons that Grainger approval will kick off a domino effect that will open all the open space along Rte. 60 and west of the Tollway to development.

Fighting Senate—LaCASA (Lake County Council Against Sexual Assault) is battling possible reinstatement of an age restriction of adult survivors of childhood sexual abuse filing a civil suit against the offender.

Torrie Flink, LaCASA executive director, said, "Not allowing a victim to file a civil suit after age 30 is an arbitrary limit...adults often do not come to terms with their abusive childhood until after the age 30."

They're citing the position of Cardinal Joseph Bernardin who is against an age limitation even though he himself was charged in a suit that was later dropped.

Dough to show—One of the first serious tests of the popularity of the new Lake County Republican chairman, Dr. John Schullen, will be the head count at the Citizens for Schullen fundraiser set for Thursday, July 7, at Buffalo Bar & Grill. Call GOP headquarters at 680-0042 for $25 tickets and to find out where that place is located.

Future star—Democrats are saving a place on their Future Stars team for Fisher North Chicago Police Chief Ernest Fisher who is retiring. Fisher served a political apprenticeship in campaigns run by Mayor Bobby Thompson.

Bi-partisan—When Americans of Greek heritage recognized public achievement at the annual Pan Arcadian Federation banquet in Elk Grove Village, it was a bi-partisan event. That's how State Sen. Adeline J. Geo-Karis (R-Zion) shared honors with U.S. Sen. Carol Moseley Braun (D-Ill.). Geo-Karis noted that she was born in the Arcadian region of Greece.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Freedoms being eroded

Editor:

It's a sad day in the United States with the passage of the "assault weapon" ban.

This is not a crime issue, as the governments own statistics show that these weapons are used in less than one percent of violent crime, and even the bill's proponents admit it will not reduce crime. What it will do is promote a stronger black market in these guns, put American companies out of business, and make criminals of hundreds of thousands of formerly law abiding citizens who are afraid to register with the government as required.

Those people fear their government with good reason. The framers of the Constitution put the right to keep and bear arms at the forefront of the Bill of Rights so the people could defend their freedom from both criminals, and the government itself if it became oppressive.

Well, now the government is chopping down the second amendment in the name of crime control, and using crime and guns to chop down the fourth amendment as in the CHA sweeps. The first amendment will probably be the next to be attacked, and since this has largely been a campaign of misinformation, promoted through the media, it would serve them right, but be a further disservice to the American people and our freedom.

I urge every American to truly research this subject and fight for our Bill of Rights.

Under utilized resources

Editor:

There is vacant school space and under utilized school facilities in Lake County! The Lake County Area Vocational Center, with space and facilities for over 2000 students has an enrollment of 900 students and enrollment has declined over the last several years.

Plant space and land represent an investment of taxpayers' money in excess of $20,000,000.

Why? A good question that its board of directors composed of the superintendents of Lake County high schools and should be expected to answer.

Member schools currently pay $1489 for each student they send there and they can go there after the first two years of high school for four hours a day. Transportation is provided by the home school.

The education provided is superb and closely advised by people in the trades and professions of the vocations taught. It has a reputation as one of the best schools of its kind in the state.

The organization of LCAVC is in need of change to take full advantage of our investment and to provide vocational skills for more high school graduates. Don't expect its board to initiate change. The interest of superintendents is primarily in their own turf.

Change can only come about by legislation promoted by industry and labor that will give such vocational schools their own tax base, their own enrollment and allow them to give their own high school diplomas.

There might be impetus in the renewed interest in vocational education provided by the job training bill recently made law on which they hope to spend $300,000,000. It would take much less than our part of it to fully utilize existing space, facilities and staff right here in Lake County.

Broaden group housing

Editor:

The League of Women Voters of the Libertyville-Mundelein area supports the Village of Libertyville's Zoning Commission's proposal to broaden the definition of group housing to include all disabled people.

According to the Federal Fair Housing Amendments Act of 1988 and subsequent federal courts rulings, zoning ordinances cannot be instituted that would discriminate against persons with developmental and physical disabilities, mental illness, AIDS and other diseases and persons recovering from alcohol and substance abuse. In fact, Congress added people with disabilities to the Fair Housing Act to remove unjustified zoning barriers that have excluded group residences from municipalities throughout the country.

Congress supports the desire of people with disabilities to live in a community and gives legal weight to national and state policies to integrate people with disabilities. The League commends Libertyville in attempting to comply with these federal guidelines in all the residential districts.

To date, there is no evidence that such ordinances bring an onslaught of group housing to a community or that property values decline. Not complying with these guidelines can bring a federal lawsuit. By preventing the use of taxpayer money for possible and unnecessary litigation, Libertyville is not only following the law as it is written, but is also showing fiscal and moral responsibility to all its residents.

Licensing protects children

Licensing standards were designed to protect children from day care situations that might be detrimental to their health, safety and well-being.

Licensing promotes quality but does not guarantee a high-quality program. It does provide safe-guards and written standards so that basic requirements can be defined and measured. Facilities that exceed licensing standards as well as facilities that just meet minimum standards receive the same license. Therefore, parents need to visit, ask questions and carefully observe a child care program to see if it meets their child's needs. The Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS) provides a pamphlet to parents entitled "Child Care Choices." This pamphlet offers helpful information and guidelines for assisting parents in making the best choice for their children.

Illinois law requires that day care centers, group day care homes and day care homes be licensed by DCFS unless specifically exempt from licensure. Licenses are effective for a two-year period and unannounced monitoring visits are made to each licensed facility at least once a year. Complaint investigations are also conducted as a part of the ongoing licensing function.

Day care center licensing standards include requirements for the physical plant, staff qualifications (including background checks), child-staff ratio, group size, health, nutrition, equipment, record-keeping and developmentally appropriate program criteria.

Possible advantages of center care:

- Staff has education and annual in-service training in child development.

- Typically, activities are planned for each age group.

- Many have kindergarten programs.

- More children in same age group.

- Staff have training in first aid.

Possible disadvantages:

- Hours and days of operation may not be flexible.

- Age ranges may not be flexible.

- May not be subject to licensing.

Group day care home (maximum capacity of 16) and day care home (maximum capacity of 12) standards are less stringent. However, they include regulations which cover basic health and safety requirements for the home and family. Background checks of all the adults in the home, references, evaluation of equipment, program, nutrition, record-keeping and evacuation procedures.

Possible advantages of family child care:

- Warm, home-like environment.

- Fewer children in setting means a more manageable environment for your child.

- Consistent care from one adult.

- Typically offers flexible hours.

- Siblings may be cared for together.

Possible disadvantages:

- Back-up care may not be available if provider is ill or on vacation.

- May not be subject to state licensing (if three or fewer children or all children from one family).

To obtain additional information regarding facilities in Lake and McHenry counties, contact DCFS Family Development Unit at 356-1011.

Dear Marilyn,

My child gives me such grief every morning, not wanting to go to day care. She acts out her feelings by crying and throwing tantrums. Her teachers tell me that once she is at school she's fine. Why does she do this to me, and how can I eliminate this behavior?

You didn't give your daughter's age, but the younger the child the more difficult the separation process is. For all children, separation from mom and home can be hard, but a necessary part of growing up. For some children it takes a very long time to really feel comfortable in a new situation. All children have separation worries, but some lucky children are able to control their feelings quicker than others.

Take heart that her teachers tell you she's a participant in school and that once you're out the door she's okay. Continue to reassure her each day, "you love her, miss her too, and will be back at the end of the day." Make your good-byes short and sweet. And no "one more kiss" routine.

Editor's note: Marilyn Straus, an Early Childhood specialist, continues her column "Dear Marilyn" as a service of the Child Care Coalition of Lake County. Send questions to Dear Marilyn, c/o Child Care Coalition of Lake County, P.O. Box 1252, Highland Park, IL 60035.

Health and safety checks for licensed care facilities

Child care health and safety checks are provided through the Health Facilities Div. for licensed child care facilities. During the survey process, the sanitarians look at the environment wherein children spend their day and, in some cases, night. The sanitarians check the water temperature, to prevent accidental scalding, the fall zone of climbing equipment, to prevent injury, and the equipment and room construction, again, to prevent injury.

In the classroom, sanitarians check to make sure that toys are safe, lighting and ventilation are adequate and hand-washing, toileting and diapering areas are maintained.

The entire physical plant is checked. This includes living areas, kitchen, laundry area, classrooms, gyms, water supply and sewage disposal.

Before they leave, the sanitarians provide some educational information to the director.

The health department's mission is: "Promotion of health, prevention of disease and disability, and the protection of the environment." In the health and safety survey process, all three aspects are met. Health promotion is provided through education, disease and disability by ensuring adequate facilities and safe equipment and areas, and environment protection in which the children live and play.

"When we protect the children, we not only protect a life, we protect a lifetime."

For more information contact Health Facilities Div., Lake County Health Dept. at 360-6733.

Why focus on young children?

Our society suffers when the needs of young children are not met. Children are our future. The way children are nurtured during the first eight years of life make a difference in:

Their success in school, ability to cope with the demands of growing up in today's world, productivity as workers, effectiveness as parents, ability to make sound decisions, and gratification in life.

What do young children need?

To be safe, physically and emotionally, to acquire knowledge and skills in order to become competent persons, and to feel good about themselves and others.

What must we do?

We must all become committed to supporting the development of strong families that have emotional and economic resources and take time to demonstrate love and give guidance to their children, quality child care settings staffed by qualified, trained professionals, caring communities that provide for children's health, educational, and social needs and are supportive of families. And interested adults who take time to listen and to enjoy each child's uniqueness and who protect all children from physical and emotional harm.

Kirk Players stage season finale

When the curtain opens on "Just for Tonight" on June 10 and 11, it will be Hill Carter's first time back on the Kirk Players' main stage since "Win with Wheeler" in 1988.

Before moving out of town, Hill was one of the most popular Kirk Players, both on and off the stage. "Just for Tonight" welcomes Hill back to the Mundelein stage in the role of the crusty ex-cowboy, Sylvester Johnson. Besides being the group's technical director for 18 years, he received multiple acting awards for his roles on stage in "Macbeth Did It," "Lily," "The Odd Couple," "The Runner Stumbles," "Fools," and many more. Although inactive for four years, he is currently the most award-winning male player. Since returning to the area in 1992, Hill's most memorable moments have been as the Long Ranger in the Kirk Players' 1992 Street Scenes skit. "Just for Tonight" will probably change all that.

"Just for Tonight" is a warm comedy/drama by Harold J. Kennedy about the return of an award-winning actress, Lila Lawrence (Marj Weingandt of Barrington) to her Midwest home town in search of her roots. She is accompanied by her colorful traveling companion an ex-cowboy actor, Sylvester Johnson (Hill Carter of Gurnee).

After so many years on the road, Lila expects to find everything the same as she left it, including some key relationships. She is eager to reestablish a relationship with her daughter Ellen, played by Paddy Lynn of Mundelein. Ellen never really got to know her mother—she was left at home with a nurse as Lila sought stardom—and greets her mother with some hesitancy.

Ellen and her husband Harry (Floyd Baker of Vernon Hills) are also concerned about Lila's influence on their daughter Caroline (Tania Lynn of Grayslake), when she announces she is leaving her Zen Buddhist fiancée, Michael (Matt Erickson of Mundelein), to move to Hollywood and become a star.

Besides renewing the relationship with her daughter and the family, Lila also wonders about the man she left behind, Jim Henderson (Jon Matousek of Mundelein). He is now married to Gladys, the head of the Garden Club (played by Donna Lynn of Roselle), but he has never forgotten the inimitable Lila.

The show will be presented on June 10 and 11 and 8 p.m. at the Mundelein High School. Ticket prices are $5 for adults, $3 for students, $2 for senior citizens or children under 12.

Beauty made beautifully simple

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Debby and Company Hair Studio Ltd., which opened March 1 in Grayslake at the new Center Street Mall, makes beauty absolutely simple. The shop was a goal owner Debby Dreyer always knew she would achieve.

"It was always my dream to open a shop," said Dreyer. Ever since she was a young woman, Dreyer knew she wanted to be a stylist and beauty consultant.

Dreyer and her husband, Pat, selected the new shopping mall in Grayslake because they had a design concept in mind. One of the nicest features of Debby and Company is the private styling rooms. Shampoo, cuts, sets, and make-overs can all be done inside each private room.

"We chose a new building because we were able to lay out the floor plan we wanted," explained Dreyer. "We have the only private styling rooms in Grayslake. The make-up, shampoo, cut and style can be done in the same chair."

The Dreyers are new residents of Grayslake. They selected the village because of the rapid growth of the area. Joining Dreyer at the shop is Tina Goglin and Shannon Scheibler. The three met at another shop.

Debby and Company offers hair cuts for all ages, perms, coloring and corrective coloring, highlighting, styles, waxing, make up and make up lessons, and manicures. "We will be offering facials in the near future," said Dreyer.

The prices are reasonable and Debby and Company offers senior discounts. Gift certificates are available. Redken and Matrix hair products are used and sold at the shop as well as Pevonia skin care products. For nails, they use Aqua Nails and OPI line of products for polish and nail care. Dreyer expects the Gel Nail system she has ordered should be in any day. "It is the new rage in nails," said Goglin.

Besides the shiny new shop, though, customer service and satisfaction are foremost in Dreyer's plan. The waiting room is spacious and comfortable; cookies, coffee, and punch are always available; and the stylists not only offer a consultation with the client before beginning but make sure the client knows how to restyle the cut or make up after they leave the shop.

Almost everyone, at one time or another, has gotten a new hairstyle, only to be unable to duplicate it after the first shampoo. This will not happen at Debby and Company. Stylists will take you step-by-step through the hair care regimen. And, since customer service and satisfaction are so important, a stylist is always only a phone call away.

Up-to-date styling books are available to help during the consultation. The books are full of ideas and the stylists will honestly explain what will look the best for your hair type and lifestyle.

"Clients these days are educated about their hair," said Dreyer. "It helps us tremendously."

Debby's offers a full line of beauty options including specialty services such as full-body waxing, pedicures, corrective coloring, and make-up lessons. Bridal packages are available. "Treat your wedding party and yourself to a make over," said Dreyer.

Debby and Company Hair Studio is located at 15 Commerce Drive in Grayslake, east of Route 83 on Center Street. The hours are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Appointments are helpful, but not always necessary.

Dreyer's dream has come true, but she did not get there alone. "Thanks to my husband, this is what I have," Dreyer said proudly.

Mary's complete make-over

"Mary, first had a consultation. She reviewed the styling books while I analyzed her hair," said Debby Dreyer of Debby and Company Hair Studio Ltd. "After selecting a style, which was a shoulder length inverted bob, we went right to it. I used Matrix Alternative Action shampoo to remove any build-up. I then deep conditioned her hair using C.A.T. Pure Protein treatment to make her hair stronger and improve elasticity."

"I styled her hair giving her longer layers in the back and angled the sides. I chipped into her bangs to give them a more textured look. As I was styling her hair I gave her instructions on how to do it at home including blow-drying her hair upside down to give it more fullness and to scrunch up her bangs."

"After I finished her hair, Mary had a brow wax to open up her eyes more. She had a full make-up lesson and then it was on to the nails," said Dreyer.

"We first had a consultation about her nails," said Tina Goglin, another stylist at the shop. "Then, the nails were shaped. After that, I soaked and softened the nails, gently pushing back the cuticles. After a hand and arm massage, I applied Grand Canyon Sunset polish and had Mary put her nails under the dryer."

Kids FARE

Celebrate Frank Lloyd Wright's birthday

Children are invited to share in the celebration of architect Frank Lloyd Wright's Birthday at the Kohl Children's Museum on June 8. At 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., meet special guest volunteers from the Frank Lloyd Wright Home and Studio and learn about architecture and Froebel blocks.

Froebel blocks are wooden building blocks, enjoyed by Wright as a child, of varying shapes and sizes. With them, children and adults can build many kinds of structures.

The Kohl Children's Museum is located at 165 Green Bay Rd., Wilmette. Hours: open daily 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Admission $3 per person; children under one year are free. For more information, call 256-6056.

Theater workshop

Summer Theater Arts Workshop is a special Northbrook Park District program offered this summer at the Northbrook Theater. For children in grades 5-9, this workshop immerses students in the performing arts, with classes in acting, singing, dancing and stagecraft. All classes are taught by theater professionals.

The four-week long session runs from July 18 through August 12, and culminates in a fully staged musical production entitled "Lucky Dollar - Private Eye."

Children will also attend a field trip to a professional theater production. Limited spaces still available. Call 291-2367 for enrollment information.

Strawberry Fest

Two free events for children with repeat performances are planned for the 12th Annual Long Grove Strawberry Festival the weekend of June 24 - 26 in the historic village of Long Grove, near the intersections of Route 53 and 83 in Lake County.

On Saturday, June 25 the Little Caboose Children's Theater will present an original adaptation of the 1993 book "The Three Little Wolves and the Big Bad Pig" by Eugene Trivias. The play, presented by a six-member costumed troupe, features songs and audience participation and is geared to ages three to ten. Half hour performances are scheduled in Fountain Square at 1, 2:15 and 3:30 p.m. Little Caboose, based in Wauconda, has given children's shows in the Chicago area for almost four years.

The Strawberry Festival offers free family entertainment, including many musical groups. For more information, 634-0888.

Interact with science

Come join the Powerhouse for this spring's Science of Saturday activities. The Power House, Commonwealth Edison's hands-on energy education and resource center in Zion presents Science on Saturday to help visitors understand how their energy uses and choices affect the way we all live.

The Power House is located on the shores of Lake Michigan just north of the Illinois Beach State Park. It is fully accessible to disabled visitors and is open to the public free of charge Monday through Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, call The Power House at 746-7080.

Just for kids

Don't miss "Just For Kids Day," co-sponsored by Toys R Us, on June 5 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Lambs Farm. Admission is free for this special day that promises a lot of fun for kids of all ages. Come meet Bozo the Clown, and Bugs Bunny will visit from Six Flags Great America. See the Chicago Police Dept.'s Canine Unit, Des Plaines Fire Dept.'s Fire Safety Smoke House, Libertyville Police Dept.'s Mounted Patrol, and Des Plaines Police Dept.'s educational mobile and drug awareness unit.

The "Atomic Fireballs" will provide musical entertainment. Jojo and Kiwi, Lamb's own famous clowns, will be up to their usual tricks. For further information call 362-4636.—by RHONDA VINZANT

INTO THE NIGHT

Blind Man's Bluff

Blind Man's Bluff will lead off the sixth annual summer noon concert series, June 8, sponsored by Van Vlissingen and Co. in the 304-acre Lincolnshire Corporate Center. The free concerts are held in the amphitheater by the large lake near One Overlook Point.

Blind Man's Bluff is one of the hottest music groups around the Chicago area, only they don't use actual musical instruments. Instead, they imitate instruments creating a dynamic sound whether they are playing pop, jazz, rock, country, rhythm and blues, doo wop or folk.

How to Avoid Tour Operator Defaults

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Earlier this month, many travelers were stunned to learn that not only had their vacation plans been canceled, but they have lost all their hard earned savings as well.

Fling Vacation, a large tour operator who advertised heavily in Chicago newspapers and was used by many area travel agencies, closed its doors leaving travelers stranded and vacations ruined...

So how can you avoid such disasters?

Finding a reputable travel agent may not be enough.

This is because your travel agent is just that, an agent. You are actually contracting with the tour operator with whom your trip is booked. Even if your travel agent forwards your funds to the tour operator, you will be out your money, and vacation, if that tour operator goes out of business.

Choosing an experienced travel agent is still a good start, since most are aware of which tour operators will be here tomorrow and which are offering deals too good to be true.

We received numerous calls on the Fling Vacation ads and would attempt to convince the callers that peace of mind was worth the few dollars more an established tour operator, such as Funjet or Apple, may charge for the same package. If they still wanted to book Fling, we would advise them to book elsewhere, since we would rather lose a sale than have a customer lose his money.

It is still up to you, though, to be sure your money is safe. Here are some tips.

Try and pay by credit card. This may give you some recourse if the tour operator, or airline for that matter, goes out of business within two months of the charge.

Make sure the tour operator is covered by one of the consumer protection plans offered by ASTA, the U.S. Tour Operators Associations or the National Tour Association. (Fling Vacations was not).

For additional security, you might consider one of the trip cancellation insurance policies, offered by most travel agencies, which also covers supplier defaults.

A tour operator can save you considerable money over booking directly with an airline and hotel and can even be safer. Just be sure you know to whom your travel agent is sending your money.

CRITIC'S CHOICE

'Get Ready' still needs some fine-tuning

"Get Ready," an original rhythm and blues musical by Jaye Stewart and Joe Plummer, says a lot about being careful what you wish for. You may get it, and the reality just might not match up with the dream.

In this heart-felt but overly long three-hour production, five middle-aged black singers try to recapture their 1960s success as "The Dove."

But what they find are the same unresolved personal problems and conflicts that originally led to their split.

Negotiations to free lead singer Roscoe (Danne Reese) from a contract with vengeful manager Eva Dee (Laura Walls) threatened the group's comeback plans.

In "Get Ready," the characters grasp at their dream. In the process they can crank out some soulful numbers about love. But real-life romance proves to be an elusive reality.

Walls belts out some fine blues, but her two scenes preceding those numbers are tiresome.

W. Allen Taylor sparkles as Knobby the choreographer, adding a touch of class to the dingy rehearsal studio as he spurs "The Doves" to greater heights. Comparisons with "The

But "Get Ready," which plays through June 19 at Victory Gardens Theatre, 2257 N.

Lincoln, Chicago, still needs some fine-tuning. Ticket information is available at (312)871-3000. —by TOM WITOM

DONNA ABEAR

A lean, mean, consumer machine...

My mother-in-law makes Ralph Nader seem like a wimp. There probably is not a day that goes by that she doesn't head for the phone, 800 number in hand, to right a consumer wrong. By the time she's through with the person on the other end, they can no longer remember their name, but they'll never forget her—she's known as Corky, and a corker she is!

Felsty and fearless, I would imagine that every large company from Sears to Proctor and Gamble has her name in a file somewhere, in a folder marked "Don't Argue—Send Coupons". Take her recent phone call when a large cereal company dared to change the recipe of their cereal:

"I would like to know why you changed your cereal. My son liked it the way it was, and now you've added cinnamon flavor. As if there aren't already a hundred cereals with cinnamon on it. He finally finds a cereal he likes, and next thing you know, you change the darn recipe. What's the matter with you people? What? No, I don't want any coupons!"

My father-in-law, who's more of a "let's not make waves" sort of guy, finds her crusades a little embarrassing. He pretends he doesn't know her in the grocery store. You'll be able to spot her, though—she's the one who's complaining loudly that "the sign says that if there are more than 3 people in line, they'll open another register. There are 6 people in this line now - can't anybody count? I don't have to shop here—my money is good anywhere!" Moments later, another register will miraculously open, right next to Corky, naturally. There, some lucky checker will be treated to a ten minute lecture on why the store should practice what they preach.

And she's right. She tells it like it is. She says what we're all too chicken to say. While we're sitting at home eating a beef roast that leaves our jaws aching from trying to chew it, she's at the customer service counter with the remainder of a stringy roast in a zip lock bag, reading them the riot act for selling meat that's not fit for her dog. Of course, then she tells them how she doesn't have a dog, and how they're dirty and shed, but they're okay if you keep them outside. Then maybe she'll tell them how they used to have a dog when her kids were small, but it got hit by a car. No, she says, she didn't run the dog over, she likes dogs, but they belong outside.

Good Food

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

Now that the grills have been broken in over Memorial Day, it's time to get a little creative. Forgo the old standards, hotdogs, brats and hamburgers and try a delicious low fat barbecue feast.

Complements of the American Institute for Cancer Research is the following recipe.

Lean & Tangy Barbecued Kabobs

1 cup no-salt vegetable juice
1/4 cup red wine vinegar
2 tablespoons spicy brown mustard
1/2 teaspoon sugar (adjust amount to taste)
1/2 teaspoon onion salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 pound mushroom caps
1/2 cup sweet green peppers, chunked
1 pound cherry tomatoes
20 ounce can pineapple chunks

The night or morning before the meal, cut the beef into cubes and place them in a glass dish. Combine the next six ingredients, then pour the mixture over the beef. Cover and marinate in the refrigerator for 2 to 12 hours. Remove the beef from the dish, reserving the marinade. Keep both refrigerated until use.

When ready to grill, dip the vegetables in very hot water before skewering to prevent splitting. Alternate the beef, vegetables, and pineapple on six skewers, leaving a small space between items. Brush with marinade and place on the grill. Grill 10 to 12 minutes, turning two to four times, brushing with marinade each time.

Each of the six servings has 220 calories and 6 grams of fat per serving.

Restored art glass lamps at Lake County Museum

Originally hung in the Lake Forest Train station for the North Shore Electric Line, two art glass lamps, dating back to 1915, are now on display at the Lake County Forest Preserves' Lake County Museum.

Donated to the museum by the city of Lake Forest in 1965, the lamps were placed in storage until Gerry Lorenz, owner of Whippitree Farm Antiques in Wauconda came to the rescue. Lorenz wanted to share the beauty of these artifacts with the public and have them restored for display in the museum's exhibit area. So he donated the funds needed to have the lamps restored by Dave Brill, of the American Stained Glass Works in McHenry.

Brill worked to restore the lamps to their original luster by cleaning them, replacing shattered or badly broken panes with specially made stained glass. He reused the original solder and also replaced the main electrical wire. Through the efforts of Lorenz and Brill, the public can again enjoy the elegant beauty of the art glass lamps on display in the lobby of the Lake County Museum.

Several museum objects have also been restored to their original splendor by other individuals interested in the preservation of artifacts, including a Native American cradle, a circa 1925 McCormick-Deering tractor, and an 1892 Waukegan Fire Dept. banner. For information on sponsoring artifact restoration, call Elizabeth Martson, Lake County Museum Curator of Collections, at 526-7878.

The Lake County Museum is located in Lakewood Forest Preserve near Wauconda, on Rte. 176, west of Fairfield Road.

Admission is $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for children.

Spring great time to visit Cuneo Museum

The Cuneo Museum and Gardens at 1350 N. Milwaukee Ave., Vernon Hills is open Tuesday through Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

There are 18 rooms on display filled with art treasures collected by the Cuneo's. The collection includes Renaissance period

Italian paintings, oriental rugs, 17th century tapestries, and many other art objects. The mansion lies in the middle of 75 landscaped acres with lakes, a greenhouse conservatory, formal gardens, and fountains.

'Crooklyn' shows new Spike Lee

Zelda Harris

Surprise! Surprise! Absent from Director Spike Lee's newest film is all the anger and controversy that heretofore has been his trademark.

"Crooklyn," is an upper-level black TV sitcom with a lot more substance. It's the story of a black family's trials, tribulations, and just day-to-day living in the Brooklyn of the 1970s.

Can you believe it? Lee's made a movie minus all the hate, controversy and four letter words that he normally implements to excess!

They say that Lee vehemently denies any serious connection between the movie, and his growing up and family, but a lot of the similarities belie coincidence.

In "Crooklyn," the Carmichael family lives in a three-story brownstone in Brooklyn in 1970. The

Carmichaels are a volatile, feisty family

Alfre Woodard plays the harassed mother who is forced to deal with most of the family's problems since her husband, played gently by Delroy Lindo, is a non-money-making musician.

This is a movie about everyday life with the kids fighting over what television show to watch and the parents fighting over the kids and money.

"Crooklyn" is special because of its tough humor, permeated with sad realism. Lee doesn't let anyone stop for a breath from start to finish, this includes the cast and the audience.

Lee, who has a talent for spotting new talent, having noticed Wesley Snipes, Rosie Perez and Halle Berry early in their careers, does it again with the movie's hub, the teenager, played by Zelda Harris.

The other four Carmichael kids are also first-rate, especially since two of them have never acted before.

We rate "Crooklyn" four out of five stars because it's a good start for what should be a family movie summer.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)

You may be asked now to help a friend out with a problem. Overall, it's not the best time for social interests, as others may be too self-absorbed. A business matter as it stands remains unclear. It's a good time to attend to bookkeeping and to answer correspondence.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A business responsibility may require your immediate attention. The demands of close ties, however, may keep you from accomplishing as much as you would like. The weekend is good for visiting with friends and family.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) The need to catch up with a backlog of work may cause you to put a travel plan on hold. Know how to pace yourself this week as you could easily overtake yourself. A new opportunity that comes now can be very lucrative in the long run for you.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Some past-due bills may require your immediate attention or, instead, you may be faced with unexpected expenditures. Problems related to intimacy may be a concern now but this soon passes.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) By the time everyone gets through with what he or she has to say, you may feel worn out. Family members may have trouble agreeing on how best to handle a problem. Take the lead in this as your instincts are right on the money. Relax at home this weekend.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) After encountering a few difficulties in connection with work, you may feel like throwing in the towel and calling it quits. Extra persistence will be needed now to overcome this. This weekend, a domestic matter concerns you.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You may find someone's behavior a bit manipulative this week.

Guard against those who would take advantage in financial matters. You will make great progress with work that you have taken home from the office this weekend.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Try not to be bossy in your dealings with others now. Extra responsibilities in connection with home and family take up much of your time this week. A slight mix-up in plans could occur now, but overall, it's a great weekend for recreational interests.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Concentration powers are good this week but you may have a heavy workload of a mental nature to deal with now. Pay extra attention to traffic rules when driving.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You may feel that a gift or business proposition has strings attached. A friend who has problems may not be much fun to be with. It's a good time to sign up for a class or seminar which can help in your career.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You are in a serious frame of mind early in the week and may not be in the mood for idle chit-chat. It's not the best time to push your interests where business is concerned. This weekend, a friend proves especially difficult to deal with.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Though you are willing to help someone out now, you may feel that your efforts are not appreciated. Remember that people under duress aren't always thoughtful. Focus your energies this weekend on cultural interests.

Wild Goose Cafe has specialties for everyone

At the Wild Goose Cafe in Mundelein, the chase is on every day for the great American cookery. You can treat yourself to some savings every evening with the daily dinner specials, but patrons do not have to confine their dining to evenings only, since the restaurant is open every day for lunch.

To place the Wild Goose Cafe in any one category would be a difficult task indeed. They feature specialty dishes from across the United States. Nearly everything on the menu comes with a twist to personalize it from the chef to you. For example, they serve spinach salad but they don't stop there. It comes topped with apple smoked bacon, feta and calamata olives.

Other items to warm you up before the main course arrives include: grilled farm fresh vegetables served with warm goat cheese, beer battered catfish with honey mustard sauce, sweet Cajun ribs hot or sweet, buffalo wings served with cool blue cheese dressing, Maryland crabcakes with tarragon sauce, and crunchy battered onion flower with buttermilk ranch dip.

When the main course does arrive, it will be considered worth the wait. Each dish is prepared fresh by the chef as it is ordered. The following selections, ranging in price from $13.95 to $7.95 including soup or salad, with soup or salad, are just a few of the dinner items to tempt your palette: midwest best fillet of beef, Newport Beach shrimp on a skewer, range chicken breast, country style meat loaf, Louisiana catfish, and Portland recipe roast pork chops.

If you're looking for ambiance and not a meal, the Wild Goose Cafe still takes care of your needs. They have a full service bar and feature daily drink specials.

You reach the Wild Goose Cafe, located at 21190 Gilmer Road in Mundelein, by calling 949-5550. Hours of operation are Mon.-Fri. 11 a.m.-10 p.m., Sat. noon-10 p.m., and Sun. noon-9 p.m.

Yan's Hunan Inn open at two locations

Yan's Hunan Inn, both I and II is "the" place to go when you are craving Chinese food in Lake County. Luncheon specials, family dinners, combination plates, and formal entrees combine to make a veritable feast for diners.

Lunch begins at 11 a.m. at Yan's Hunan Inn. The restaurants boast 20 specials which include hot and spicy dishes, meatless dishes, and old-time favorites. All specials include a choice of hot and sour, wonton, or egg drop soup, and are served with white rice.

Combination plates feature a choice of soup, and are served with fried rice and an egg roll. Spare ribs, sweet and sour pork or chicken, beef chop suey, chicken or pork egg foo young, and shrimp with lobster sauce are just a few of the featured items.

There is a huge selection of dinner delights to choose from. Several of the dishes are hot and spicy, but Yan's Hunan Inn will alter the spice according to your taste. House dinners cost $15.95 per person and include a glass of house wine, soup, an appetizer, a choice from 13 main entrees, and dessert.

The sliced beef with scallions is absolutely delicious and the flowery chicken is out-of-this-world. Some of the spicy dishes include sliced prawns with garlic sauce, the Hunan beef, lamb with spicy and tangy sauce, and General Ching's chicken. For dessert, try the stuffed honey banana that comes with the meal.

Families are not left out at Yan's Hunan Inn. This great bargain costs $11 per person and includes from one to three main course selections with many sides. Families are offered a choice of soup, appetizers, and for dessert, an almond cookie.

Yan's has a number of house specialties priced from $7.95 to $15.95. The "Sizzling Three Musketeers" includes fresh scallops, sliced prawns and beef served with assorted vegetables prepared in the chef's special sauce and served on a hot plate. The house special beef, one of the spicier selections, is deep fried tender sliced beef that is crispy on the outside and tender in the middle. The beef is sautéed with orange peels, and has a sweet and spicy flavor.

The restaurant also offers more traditional Chinese fare including chow mein, chop suey, egg foo young, lo mein, fried rice, and vegetable dishes. Other favorites include sweet and sour chicken, seafood dishes, pork dishes, and beef and lamb selections.

Yan's Hunan Inn has two locations at 100 N. Milwaukee Avenue in Libertyville (816-6988) and at 911 Lakehurst Road in Waukegan (473-1660). The hours for both locations are 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

Grasscycling gives lawn benefits of 'TLC'

Grasscycling is a term coined by the Professional Lawn Care Assn. of America (PLCAA) to describe the process of leaving grass clippings and mulched leaves on the lawn. PLCAA supports a national public awareness program that encourages homeowners to make good use of lawn debris at home.

Is it good for the lawn to leave clippings on the turf?

"Many homeowners worry about a harmful buildup of thatch," said Ann E. McClure, CAE, executive vice president of PLCAA. "But thatch is mostly dead grass roots caused by improper mowing, watering and fertilizing. It's really not caused by clippings."

McClure explains that Grasscycling is nothing more than a natural process of decay and renewal. Grass clippings are 85 percent water, so they decompose fast, returning 20 percent of their nitrogen content to feed the lawn. One thing decomposes in order to renew something else; it happens throughout nature.

"And now there is good news from a major university study," McClure said. "Grasscycling with a specially designed mulching mower discourages the development of fungus organisms, the most common cause of turf disease. It's called 'TLC' for Thin Layer Composting.

As the clippings decompose, they encourage microbial activity and discourage fungus development. Grasscycled lawns were greener and healthier."

According to PLCAA, Grasscycling can be practiced any time of year. "Because mower manufacturers have designed new mulching systems that chop clippings and leaves into little pieces that break down fast, Grasscycling works spring through autumn," said PLCAA Public Relations Committee Chairman Bob Tracinski, consumer information manager for John Deere.

Some mulching systems are "dedicated" that is, they only mulch grass clippings. Other systems are "convertible," they give the homeowner a range of options—mulch, side discharge, or collect debris in a rear-bagger for use in a backyard compost pile. And some systems can be adjusted to mulch either grass clippings or leaves; the pieces are so tiny they can be blown into the turf where they disappear from view and return nutrients to the soil.

"As many avid gardeners know, grass clippings and leaves are a valuable resource," Tracinski said. "It's a shame to squander the resource by raking them into plastic bags and dumping them in an already overburdened landfill. Thin Layer Composting, or Grasscycling, and backyard composting are two good ways to help extend the life of a community's landfill, and reap the benefits of rotting vegetation returning nutrients nature's way."

To avoid a thatch buildup, PLCAA gives these recommendations:

- Mow often enough to cut only the top one-third of each grass blade.
- Water infrequently, but deeply.
- Use a fertilizer with a high percentage of slow-release nitrogen.

Anything that encourages a deep root system discourages thatch.

Take proper safety precautions when mowing lawns

Mowing the lawn on a miserably hot day when there's a long list of errands and chores can tempt some Lake County homeowners to take risky short cuts. But don't do it, cautions the Professional Lawn Care Assn. of America (PLCAA), because "mowing safety only takes a moment."

"People who mow and maintain lawns for a living know how important it is to keep safety in mind," said Ann E. McClure, CAE, executive vice president of PLCAA. "The pros walk a lawn first to be sure there are no toys, tools or dog chain hidden in the grass. These things can be thrown by the mower blade or can damage the mower. They know it only takes a moment to prepare properly—or to have something go wrong."

McClure points out that the tip of the rotating cutter blade on a mower can reach speeds up to 200 miles per hour. They can throw objects a long distance with considerable speed.

"That's why we've adopted the slogan 'Mowing safety only takes a moment' in radio and television public service announcements," McClure said. "We want to remind people that it doesn't add a lot of time to the mowing job to do it the safe way."

Wearing proper clothes is another part of safety preparation. Wear sturdy shoes with traction soles, and long slacks with shirt-tails tucked in. Avoid dangling jewelry or anything that can get caught in lawn mower controls.

Teach children that mowers are serious cutting tools. Be sure they're in the house and under supervision before mowing, and never take passengers. Once you give children a free ride on a lawn tractor you never know when they'll come back for a second one.

When it's time to give a mature teenager the weekly responsibility of mowing the family lawn, give them proper instruction. Read the operator's manual together. Be sure they understand the controls. Supervise them the first few times.

Preventive maintenance is another important aspect of mowing safety. Keep the mower in good repair. And this is vital—keep all safety devices in place and working.

Some riding mowers and tractors are equipped with a seat safety switch. It automatically shuts off the engine should the operator leave the seat while the mower deck is running.

Avoid blade contact by reminding yourself that the high-speed blades fill the mower deck, reaching nearly to the edge of the housing. If a clog develops, use a stick or tool to clear the discharge chute opening—never your fingers.

When mowing a sloping lawn or hillside with a walk-behind mower, mow back and forth across the face of the slope. That way, if you trip, the mower will not fall on you. When mowing a slope with a riding mower or tractor, go up and down for greatest stability. Plant a groundcover on steep, risky slopes.

Striking Katsuratree—a gem in the landscape

Cercidiphyllum japonicum—Katsuratree, with a long name like that, I suppose this tree could easily be forgotten. This tree is pyramid in youth, full and dense even as a young tree, and varies in shape as it matures from pyramid to wide spreading. Its leaves are quite striking as they are a dark, bluish green above and glaucous beneath. When the leaves emerge in the spring, they are purple in color. As they mature they do resemble a red-bud leaf. A medium to fast grower achieving heights of 40 feet over 20 years. It has a striking yellow fall coloring. This is an excellent tree for residential properties and should be considered more often. It can be hard to transplant as a balled and burlapped plant, however, if dug in early spring and given ample water with well-drained, rich soil, this plant will grow nicely in the Lake County area.

I've seen this plant grown in clump form as well as tree form and both are beautiful. The cultivar "Pendula" forms a mound of gracefully, weeping branches and is a real gem in the right setting. We've used this plant near water and around boulders and seems to fit nicely into the landscape.

The Katsuratree is also a nice patio tree and the leaves move gracefully in the wind. Its native habitat is China, Japan and was introduced in 1865. A fairly easy tree to locate in the Lake County area, and we feel, a real winner in residential settings.—by MIKE GRECO, landscape architect, owner, of Mill Creek Nursery, Wadsworth.

Sawflies, caterpillars are eating landscape

Two major tree insects are now eating your landscape. The first is pine sawfly. This insect feeds on pines and prefer scotch and mugo pines. However, they will feed on other pines. This insect feed for about six weeks or sometimes longer if its been cold says James E. Schuster of the Univ. of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service.

One characteristic of pine sawfly is that when disturbed, it and all the others with it will lift the front half of their bodies up into the air and "wave." This is a defense mechanism to help scare away birds and other predators. Pine sawflies feed on last years' needles tending to make evergreens look thinned out and weak. Control is carbaryl. Follow label directions. The sawflies are easier to control when insects are still small (less than one-half inch in length).

To other insect that is feeding now is the Eastern Tent Caterpillar. This insect feeds on fruit type trees such as crabapples, pear, peach, choke cherries, black cherries, quince, etc.

The insect overwinter in egg masses stuck on twigs pencil thick or smaller. Schuster says the best control is physically removing the egg mass before it hatches.

The next best control is to use a biological control of Bacillus thuringiensis while insects are less than half grown. Left uncontrolled, these insects can totally defoliate trees and thus weaken them. The weakened trees are more prone to other problems.

Pulling unsightly weeds can be a family activity

Having picnics, going to movies, playing Monopoly—these are all activities that are national family pastimes. But what about weeding together? Yes, weeding—pulling those bothersome, unsightly weeds out of the lawn and garden as a family activity.

Though a family may get dirtier weeding the garden than playing Monopoly, there are many benefits, too. First, it's great group exercise—kneeling, lifting, stretching, pulling—and by the end of the season, your family will be in better shape than any other in the neighborhood. Second, it helps the environment when you carefully remove weeds, then prevent them from returning by installing landscape fabric instead of spraying with potentially dangerous chemicals.

Weeds can destroy the serenity of any home lawn. Broadleaf weeds, such as dandelions, pigweed and ragweed, are common lawn invaders and difficult to eradicate. Fortunately, they're easy to pull out by hand and nearly any child can handle the task if an adult demonstrates how to do it correctly.

The best time to pull weeds is when the earth is loose or soft, a day or two after a light rain. Because a weed's roots can grow much longer below ground than its above-ground height, it's important to pull straight up to get as much of the root as possible. It's also important to grasp the weed at the crown, the thick-stemmed area just above the soil surface, to pull out the entire plant.

If a lawn has an abundance of broadleaf weeds, a weed-killing spray can be applied, but only as a last resort. Never apply a herbicide in the presence of children or pets and strictly follow label directions.

Weeds in a flower garden are burdensome but easier to take care of if two or more people work on it together. The first step is to pull all weeds out by hand. The second step is to cover the bed with a landscape fabric. Landscape fabrics permit air and water to travel throughout the fabric to the soil, but block sunlight from weed seeds to keep the area weed-free.

If the plants in the flower bed have yet to be planted, cover the bed with the fabric then cut holes or x's into the fabric with scissors everywhere you intend to put a plant or flower. Cut the holes or x's large enough to insert the plant directly through the fabric and into the soil.

If the flowers have already been planted, cut holes or x's into the fabric that are slightly larger than the plants themselves. Gently pull the fabric over the plants so that the fabric lays flat on the soil surface.

Once the fabric is in place, cover the fabric with gravel, pebbles or wood nuggets.

Weeds in a vegetable garden can attract bothersome insects to food-bearing plants. But it's especially important not to spray weed or insect killers in a vegetable garden as they could taint the vegetables. The simple solution is to gather the family to weed on a regular basis. With several people working at the same time, it won't take long to weed-out every row.

Though most grasses won't grow in the shade around the bases of shrubs and trees, some weeds seem not to mind. Any family member can remove the weeds by pulling them out by hand, then use a spade to dig up any weed roots remaining below the soil surface.

The next step may require two or more people, depending on the size and shape of the shrub or tree. Place a strip of landscape fabric on the soil in a ring around the trunk securing it with fabric pegs. The inside edge of the fabric is in place, cover it with gravel or wood nuggets and you won't see another weed there for years.

Success with azaleas and acid-loving plants

Success with some of nature's most spectacular but demanding flowering shrubs and trees is often as simple as "fixing" the soil to meet their needs.

Botanical superstars such as the azalea and rhododendron are among the plants that flourish when planted in a sheltered area and in soil that is loose, moist, organically-rich, and within a pH range of 4.0 to 5.0 (acidic).

The dilemma facing many Lake County gardeners is how to prepare the soil for acid-loving plants. Native soil often has too much clay, too much sand, or is out of kilter pH-wise.

You can "build" your soil from the ground down by amending it with a rich, organic material. Backyard compost is becoming more prevalent as composting methods are better understood and practiced. Another choice, especially in rural areas, is well-rotted manure.

However, the most universal option is Canadian Sphagnum peat moss, a plentiful, sustainable resource. It's unique among other soil amendments and specifically attuned to the needs of azaleas and rhododendron. You can condition your soil by working two inches of peat moss into the top six inches of soil.

Canadian Sphagnum peat moss has a dependable pH level which easily can be worked into any soil to sustain acid-loving plants. Its naturally unique cellular structure endures for years in the soil, long after compost and other amendments have disappeared.

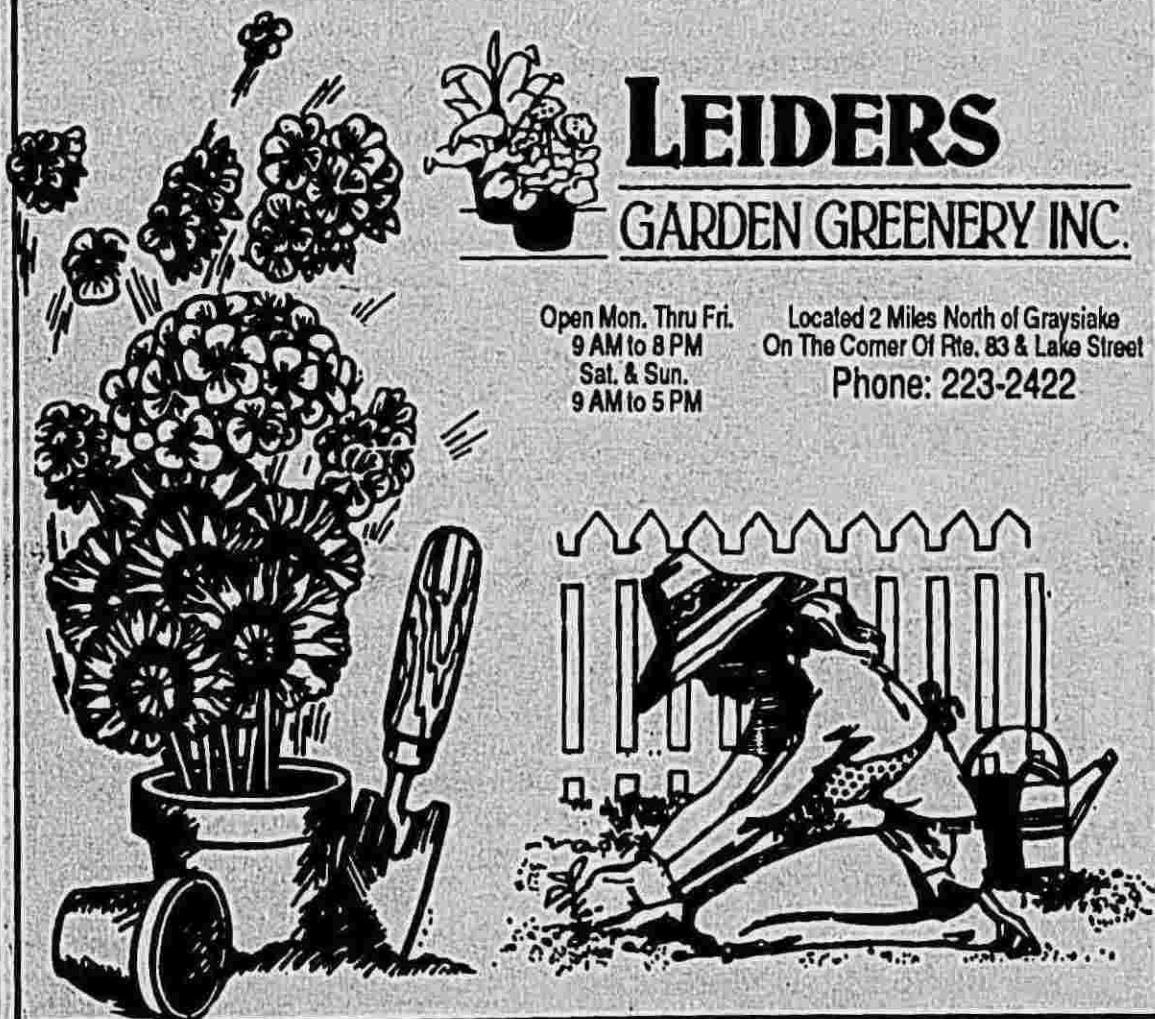

The payoff to the gardener is that sphagnum peat moss keeps the soil amply loose, while the root structure of a new plant establishes itself. This is especially important with azaleas and rhododendrons because of their fibrous root system.

Once you've amended the soil properly, you can plant your azaleas and rhododendrons. Keep in mind that while they are the best known acid-loving plants, there are many other trees, shrubs and perennials you could grow. A few include:

Erica arborea (Tree Heath and other heaths and heathers), Magnolia x soulangiana (Saucer Magnolia), Cornus kousa (Kousa Dogwood), Amelanchier canadensis (Serviceberry), Chamaecyparis obtusa (Hinoki False Cypress), Primula vulgaris (Primrose), Lillium speciosum rubrum (Lily), and Lupinus Hybrid (Lupine).

Lakeland
Newspapers

Lipservice is a phone-in column presented as a feature of Lakeland Newspapers. Lakeland Newspapers makes no claim to the authenticity of the statements. Lakeland Newspapers does not claim the content or the subject matter as fact, but as the personal opinion of the caller. Lakeland Newspapers reserves the right to edit copy or to refrain from printing a message. Call in at 223-8073 and leave your message 24-hours a day. Although the call is anonymous, please leave your village name.

Clear the street

Lipservice, you guys are doing a great job. This is to the royal hellness in Round Lake Beach. Your day care center is a joke. People are tired of dodging parked cars and kids in the street. Somebody is going to get hurt. And why are there so many cops over there?

Early in, early out

This is regarding 'Get your calendar straight'. Antloch High School students do go to school a week earlier than most schools. They also get out a week earlier than most schools. I'm an Antloch High School student and I thought you would like to know. P.S. Lipservice, I love your recording.

Chicken anyone?

This is from Round Lake Heights. Maybe the chicken man and his clerk should take a step back and see that his attitude is starting to show about two trustees on the board.

You know who you are

I have been a licensed day care provider here in Round Lake Beach for 5 years and I love it very much. The kids I care for I treat as if they were my very own. Anybody out there who is considering day care, please go to someone who is licensed. There are many people out there who are not licensed. It is against the law to take in too many kids. They may not be watched closely enough. I would not trust my children with somebody like that. You people know who you are. All it would take is one phone call and you would be out of business. Isn't our children's welfare the most important thing? Not someone trying to make as much money as they can. Please think about it.

No respect

It seems the clerk in Round Lake Heights has the same level of respect for the trustees as the mayor has—none.

Mail delays

Last week I received a letter from the Round Lake area. This letter took eight days from the time it was post marked until the time I received it.

No mail problems

I'm a postal worker at the Mundelein Post Office. As we all know, all the postal employees have been under fire recently, mostly because of the Chicago Post Office. I have been a postal employee for 17 years, and I think we have probably the best post office in Lake County. We recently called another local newspaper to run an article about the food drive, and they would rather run a cartoon nailing the post office instead of helping to feed the needy. The people I work with take great pride in their work. All postal employees should not be compared to the bad apples.

Lakeland Newspapers, thank you for printing the article about the food drive in your paper. We really appreciate it.

Clean your lot

I'm from Round Lake Beach and I was reading in Lakeland Newspapers that Mayor Davis has a beautification project going. I would suggest that Mayor Davis should clean up the lot that he owns on Cedar Lake Rd. There used to be a house there and now it is just debris. He should start by cleaning up his own backyard.

Start corporal punishment

I hope you print what I have to say today, because usually when I call I watch and watch and never see my opinion in Lipservice. For the benefit of all the children and the parents in Round Lake Beach, I saw a beating on May 10 over by Ellis School. There were seven little boys beating on one boy. When the kids saw me, they scattered. The little boy laid there in a pool of blood while my son called 911. My question and issue is, what happened to those kids that beat up that little boy? Apparently, the police made some arrests, and the kids were charged with battery and mob action, but the children in the school tell me that those kids were back into school the day following the beating. Now it appears they will go to court and their parents will be charged with a heavy fine and that will be the end of it. I feel that if these kids paid for their actions by sitting in jail or doing community service, they might think twice about it. Round Lake claims it has a gang problem, and it is because these little kids, ranging in ages from 10 to 16, aren't getting punished for the heavy duty crimes they are committing. I fear to think what would have happened to that boy if I hadn't scared those kids off. He might have been killed.

Good job, classified

Thank you for the employment section in the May 13 paper. In particular the thorough review of the types of resumes offered and the part about turning negatives into positives. Thanks again.

It's the economy

I live in Round Lake Beach. This is a question to the trustees of the village. You were concerned about our police chief living in the village. What about all of the out of towners you voted to hire? I wonder if taxpayers are aware of how much of their taxes go to salaries for village employees who are not living in our area. So much for helping the economy of Round Lake Beach.

Thank you, firemen

Thank you to the guys who helped us with the fire May 13 on Diamond Lake Rd. And thank you to all the other people in Mundelein.

Bicycle safety

The nice weather is finally here, and everybody is out. Doesn't it make you feel nice? Only one thing disturbs me and that pertains to bicycle safety on the streets, at shopping centers and on sidewalks. If you've noticed the alert police force that Wauconda has for going into the schools and educating our precious young about the rules of the road when on a bicycle, then you're the only one. How many times have you pulled up to a stop sign and seen kids whizzing by without even looking? They ride three abreast instead of single file. I have even had an occasion when I have had them run into each other right in front of me. Luckily, I've got excellent brakes. If one of these adorable children run into you, even if you are stopped, remember that it is your fault not theirs. The same holds true for adults riding bikes. They don't stop for stoplights or signs and that scares me. Our children look up to and copy adults. So if you read the Wauconda Leader this summer and find out somebody's child was hit, don't cry. Just send flowers to the Wauconda Police Department because they will need them. As we all know, hindsight is always better than foresight.

Get some control

The Gurnee grade school board had better get their head man under control or we will all be embarrassed like Lake Forest was a year or two back. That overpaid individual is not doing his job and it is becoming more evident. Discard, distrust, and declining education is on the increase. And so is his time away from the job with his extracurricular activity.

Moth balls do hurt

This is to the moron who said that the moth balls would not hurt the woodchucks. Read the back of the box, you moron. It says that they are hazardous to humans and to animals. There is also an environmental hazard warning. What a dork. Learn how to read.

Editorial note: You express a great deal of unmitigated rage. Is it possible that you are a woodchuck?

Motorcycle cops

I'm a resident of Round Lake Beach. In the summer we've been plagued with those Harley Davidson types, none of them with the muffler system that is required by law. It appears the police never seem to bother them. Maybe our new chief could put some focus on this and quiet it down for the summer.

Postal kudos

I'd like to say hats off to the Round Lake area postal service. My husband received a package that was addressed to 'Round Lake Park, Ill.' and we still received it. Good job.

Underground leaks

When will Lake Villa Township finally have the underground fuel tanks removed. If you talk to the commissioner, he says that everything is fine. If you talk to the supervisor, the same thing. If you talk to the fire commissioner, they have a different story. Thanks guys, more tax money wasted.

The golden rule

There is a basic universal rule that we could all apply to get along better, no matter what religion you subscribe to. It is to do unto others as you would have others do unto you.

Doesn't like red pork

This is to the cretin about 'Gun ridance'. There was one point correct in that statement. That is that Bill and Hillary Clinton have more in common with Karl Marx than they do with the majority of the American people. It is fools like this and the fairness doctrine and all their liberal communist doctrine that are trying to destroy the American system. Be warned you communist scumbag. The American people will rise against your ilk and defeat you with the guns you are trying so hard to take away. When the second revolution comes you will have your blood running in the street in fairness to other slime like yourself. I am a veteran and 'redneck', with all of my teeth, and I would like nothing better than to see slime like you in my sights, or my teeth in your neck. Die you communist swine, die.

Burn down fireman's ball

I have lived in Antloch for 20 years and for the past several years the fireman's ball has been nothing but a drunkfest. What happened to the town getting together and socializing without drinking. All this is are drunks fighting and teenagers sneaking drinks in the bushes. Needless to say, I do not put myself or my family in that environment anymore.

Proofreading problems

You should get your proofreader glasses or get a 5th-grader to do the wriling. Your proofreader isn't good.

Editorial note: Thank you for your concern. Though this is not to excuse us, we should make it clear that the paper you are reading, combined with all 13 Lakeland Newspapers, represents over 150 separate pages that are built in-house weekly. To give the best local coverage, we have no wire service to fill the paper with artificial news. We do need to improve in this department and are continuing to do so. To all readers, just note that this call had to be significantly altered grammatically to be suitable for public reading. Nobody's perfect.

Police parking spaces

This call is from Antioch. At 10 a.m., May 16, squad car 261 pulled up and parked in the middle of the crosswalk. He got out of his squad car and gave a parking ticket. There were three spaces open behind this car, but he chose to park in the crosswalk. What a good example from the Antioch Police Department. There were only about 10 cars parked on Main Street. He could have parked legally.

Where are you?

This is to the woman who called in from Wadsworth a few weeks ago recommending a pet service in Millburn. I can't seem to find them listed anywhere. How do I get in touch with them?

Thank the kids

This is a big thank you to the brother and sister from Carmel High School who volunteered and called bingo every Tuesday and Thursday at the Lakeland Apartments in Fox Lake. You kids deserve all the credit you get for it.

Prom manners

I'm from Antioch and would like to say what a pleasure it was to work Round Lake's prom. The kids were so behaved and well-mannered. It was the best prom I've ever worked. Congratulations to the class of 1994.

Truth about cops

I'm calling because I agree with the party who said cops are liars. I've got a scanner, and I get to listen to cop to cop talk. I hear remarks like "let's just make our own case" or "I'm sick of these punks, and I'm going to show their parents who is boss". Personally, I have no trust in cops, especially when they can't give you a report at the time of the incident. They can give out tickets immediately. I'm to the point if I need a cop, then I need a recorder, even when I'm a victim. They need to clean up their mouths as well as their acts.

More prom coverage

I'm from Round Lake. I went to the prom this year and I think it is weird that you could put Lake Zurich's prom in the newspaper but not Round Lake's.

Dedicated to what?

To Mr. Hough, the president of the Round Lake board of education, stated in a newsletter mailed to all residents that he felt the school had a very dedicated staff. If this is true, then why doesn't he and his board negotiate a fair contract with the secretaries union?

Garage sale

I live in Gurnee and I subscribe to the Gurnee Press. I would like to know what good it does to get the paper for garage sales on Friday afternoon when I don't get the paper until late Friday afternoon?

Either or

Does the clerk in Round Lake Heights need an attitude adjustment, or just a slap on the back of the head?

Babies don't sing well

I just got home from the Woodland choir concert, and a very good concert it was with one major exception. Parents of Woodland, please. If you can't keep your babies quiet, take them out, or to the back, or best yet, get a sitter. I've never attended such a concert. You parents thought it was funny and let them get louder. One front row mom let her child run around in the aisle. Another mom back toward the middle let her child run around in the back pounding on the walls. My 8-year-old asked me why these parents wouldn't take their children out. I couldn't answer. These parents ruined it for the 500 other people who were there to appreciate their student's hard work. Please, next time control your children or bring a muzzle.

No fire dance

I'd like to comment about the Antioch Fire Department's annual dance. The dance is designed to raise money for the fire department. They don't need any more money because they get all they need from our taxes. The firemen are not volunteer. They are paid. Why have alcohol to raise money? It allows for drinking and driving.

Babbitt for superintendent

I'm calling from Antioch. After reading the article about Dr. Schley retiring and the search for a new Antioch school superintendent, the first person that comes to mind is Tom Babbitt. We should not let this opportunity slip through our hands. We have tried to have an outside superintendent and it has failed. Tom Babbitt is qualified and a community person who has children coming into ACHS soon. Please, school board, don't let this opportunity slip by again. If you people out there agree, please call in.

Speak up

I guess you can say this is another griping phone call against development. Do we really need all of these shopping centers around here. Can't people who have a vehicle do 10 minutes of driving into Vernon Hills to shop. That place there has everything. We don't need a mall on every corner. I moved away from Schaumburg to get away from all of that. I'm also sorry that we lost the cows at the Hook's farm to development. Get on your village boards about this and don't let them get away with it. I'm speaking up. Why don't you?

No topless golf

I'm from Island Lake, for the past 48 years. We don't need any low income housing. I think the chief should hire someone he doesn't have to beg to get them to work. I think the Lions should do away with their mud volleyball and their drunken fest.

They are just children

This is in response to 'Home alone'. I missed the 100th anniversary of Big Hollow because I do have small children. If the school would provide on-site care for us then we would get more involved. It really bothers me when people turn their noses up at small children. Those kids will be going to that school some day.

Gun nut plant

The call in Lipsevice under the heading 'Gun riddance' which praised gun control and Karl Marx obviously was a call by a gun nut who was trying to tar the gun control movement. We in the public are not stupid enough to take this call as if somebody really favors Karl Marx or wants communism. The National Rifle Association has taken to extortion and lies and passing out phony flyers as if they come from gun control people. The public is waking up to the realization that we need some control on guns. We have it on cars. The NRA doesn't want any restrictions no matter how many people get killed with them. The second amendment is not about unregulated gun ownership. It is about a well regulated militia. It is not about everybody having assault weapons that rip apart people and have nothing to do with hunting. So a person who calls in and pretends to be a gun control advocate and an advocate of Karl Marx and gets a little jab in toward the Clintons is whistling up the wrong tree. The public is not stupid enough to take this call for anything but phony.

Channel dredging update

This is to the person who was wondering about the dredging of the channel. Almost half of this channel has been dredged hydraulically so far. The waterway agency said they would be starting the other half sometime the week of May 23. The delay was because Ackerman Island was full. The $100 you gave was for lawyer's fees and not for dredging. If you have any questions, call the waterway agency and they will verify it with you.

Absolute government

I'd like to say bravo to the 'Gun riddance' in last week's paper. After all, just before the Nazi's came into Hungary in WW II, they took all of the guns away so they could walk right in. The comment about absolute government and Karl Marx was right. There are so many wonderful things that a strong government can do. Take Idi Amin, Fidel Castro, and the Sadinistas. Aren't they wonderful?

Gun toting peace-lover

I'm from Montana, and I'm in Fox Lake on vacation. I'm calling in response to a call about gun control and that the Clintons are doing a wonderful job with their anti-gun legislation. The person claimed that all gun owners are toothless rednecks. I must say that I have all of my teeth. I happen to be a peace-loving hippie. I own guns and I hunt. It is a very enjoyable sport and every one should at least try it.

This gun legislation thing really doesn't work. Our cities who have the highest murder rates, like Washington DC., New York City and Chicago, have the strictest gun laws in the nation. It seems quite obvious that such legislation is needless and has no effect on criminals. It only keeps law abiding citizens from enjoying their pursuit of happiness. If that person likes Marx so much, why don't they move to Cuba, North Korea, or China and stop bothering law abiding citizen's with their fascist beliefs.

I love Antioch

I live in Antioch and I love Antioch also. If I have to drive 10 or 15 minutes to Gurnee to do shopping, then that is fine. I would rather have Antioch stay the way it is instead of looking like Gurnee.

UW adds Mills to board

MUNDELEIN—Elizabeth Jan Edgar, president for the United Way of Lake County, announces the addition of Jon Mills, president of Medline Industries in Mundelein, to United Way's board of directors. "The addition of Mr. Mills to our board will bring an important resource from a proven corporate leader in the community," said Edgar. "Mills has a personal, long-standing commitment to the mission of United Way to care for people in the local community, and this commitment is reflected by the generosity and support of Medline employees." Mills is a graduate of Northwestern University, where he earned a bachelor's degree in business.

Wal-Mart honors Wauconda tool manufacturer

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., of Bentonville, Ark. has recognized Stack-On Product Co. of Wauconda as one of 37 national manufacturing firms chosen recipients of the company's annual Vendor/Partners of the year awards. The presentations were made during an awards ceremony at the Wal-Mart offices.

Stack-On is the only manufacturer in Illinois to receive the award. The firm was awarded in the hardlines division of the ceremony, for the toolboxes they supply to the multi-billion dollar discount retailer.

Stack-On Products was incorporated in July of 1972 and began construction of steel tool boxes in January of 1973. They were rewarded with a government contract later that year.

In the beginning things were not mechanized like they are today. Current President John Lynn assembled metal tool cabinets with his two teenage sons. The government contract not only created the need but provided the necessary funds to upgrade the company to modern equipment.

The unique concept of the product is to enable the do-it-yourself mechanics to customize a professional tool storage system. As the company name implies, tool cabinets are modular in design in order to accommodate accessory parts.

"Our units are designed to allow a customer to expand their tool storage without buying an entirely new system each time their storage needs grow," said Susan Eckhoff, director of administration at Stack-On.

The manufacturer, which distributes metal and plastic tool storage containers to a number of original equipment and retail vendors, was honored by Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. for high product quality and excellent service.—Photo by Bill Dermody Jr.

In 1991, Stack-On entered into a partnership with Wal-Mart and began producing metal tool storage products under the brand name Popular Mechanics. The work force has expanded since that time from 150 to 360. The increase in labor is due in large part to the Wal-Mart partnership.

The company has a number of other major contractors including Milwaukee Electric, Menards, Loews, and Sam's Wholesale Club. The company manufactures both metal and plastic tool storage cabinets for those vendors.

With the increased in sales and the increased work force comes the demand for a significant increase in space. In 1982, the company began the first phase of construction on its facilities at the present site on Old Rand Road. This structure consisted of 64,000 square feet of modern offices and manufacturing space. Five years later an additional 40,000 square feet of warehouse space was added.

In 1991, this additional warehouse space was converted to production space, requiring the company to lease off-site warehouse space. In November 1993 the company completed construction of another 103,000 square feet that will serve as a warehouse. This addition brought the total campus to 207,000 square feet, and maximized the allowable square footage at the current site. Officials are currently looking at off site warehousing possibilities within the Lake County area.

Dealership improving car buying through sales training

Raymond Chevrolet /Oldsmobile in Antioch and Ray Chevrolet Geo in Fox Lake are the first Lake County automobile dealerships to certify their 20 salespeople in a national program to improve the new-car buying process for customers.

The National Automobile Dealers Association (NADA) has been offering the program to dealerships across the country for three years and provides training in three main areas: ethics and the law, customer satisfaction, and professional sales practices. Salespeople must then pass an exam to become certified.

"Eventually this will be the standard in the new-car showroom and I wanted to get in on the ground floor," said Ray Chevrolet/Geo General Manager Ray Scarpelli, adding "The customers will know that they're buying from someone who has committed to uphold a strict code of conduct that prohibits behavior that is unacceptable.

Certified salespeople at the two dealerships will wear a lapel pin to let customers know that they've been trained to listen carefully to the customers needs, and will respond in a way to meet those needs. Salespeople who don't live up to those needs can have their certification removed. Once stripped of certification, the salesperson can never have it reinstated.

Scarpelli said any customer can get a copy of the code of conduct that tells them how to get in touch with NADA if they're dissatisfied. He said, "I am committed to my customers, and I think this training and certification program will be of great benefit to them."

Community-supported organic garden 'crops up'

Juicy tomatoes, succulent melons, sweet, crispy carrots and a host of other fresh fruits and vegetables will soon be available from the Prairie Crossing community-supported garden, which kicks off its second growing season this month. This year, Prairie Crossing will deliver produce to selected north suburban and Chicago locations.

Prairie Crossing, an innovative conservation community now under construction in Grayslake, is preserving more than half of its 667 acres as open space, including the community-supported garden, prairies, meadows, wetlands and farm fields. The community founded its five-acre garden in 1993 to provide a ready source of naturally grown, chemical free vegetables, herbs and flowers to supporting residents and members.

"Prairie Crossing is committed to saving open space and promoting ecologically-sound agriculture," explains Victoria Post Ranney, a member of the garden's steering committee and vice president of Prairie Holdings Corporation, which owns the Prairie Crossing property. "By supporting the garden, members help preserve local farming while enjoying fresh, organically-grown produce with their families."

According to Alvin Warren, the garden's resident farmer, more than 30 varieties of vegetables and fruits will be planted this year, including potatoes, cantaloupe, corn, pumpkins, cabbage, squash and more. "We've already planted onions, spinach, beets and carrots, and a lot more produce is being started in our greenhouse," reports Warren. The garden will also grow and sell a variety of fresh flowers.

To grow chemical-free produce, Warren will use ladybugs and a parasitic larvae in place of pesticides to naturally control insects that could damage the garden's crops. "The ladybugs control aphids, a small insect that attacks a variety of plants," he explains. "The larvae control a broad cross-section of worms, including cabbage worms, corn ear worms, tomato hornworms and many more," he reports.

Participants in the garden buy shares to help cover annual costs of maintaining the garden and, in return, receive a share of the harvest each week. One share, which costs $350 ($17.50 a week), includes more than ten pounds of produce per week over 20 weeks, plus fresh flowers and herbs, and is plenty for a family of four. According to Warren, more than 50 shares already have been purchased.

Beginning this year, freshly baked bread, made with organic ingredients, also will be available to garden members. For an additional $35, members can receive weekly deliveries of their produce throughout the season at designated areas in Des Plaines, Lake Forest, Wilmette on the North Shore and Hyde Park, Wrigleyville and West Rogers Park in the city.

Doug Willson, Alvin Warren and Davis Warren (left to right) plant organic crops at Prairie Crossings, a community supported garden just south of Grayslake. The chemical free 5-acre garden is part of a 667-acre plot of land, the majority of which is designated for prairies, meadows, wetlands and farm fields. The garden will have its bountiful harvest available at various Lake County outlets throughout the summer.—Photo by Bill Dermody Jr.

The Prairie Crossing community-supported garden is one of only two in northern Illinois. Community-supported agriculture came to North America from Europe in 1986. During the last decade it has taken root in the U.S., and is rapidly growing in popularity. There are now 200 to 400 community-supported agricultural projects in the United States.

"This will be an exciting year for garden members," explains Ranney. "Besides the excellent fresh vegetables we're growing, the community-sponsored garden also will sponsor several

Individuals interested in purchasing shares of Prairie Crossing's community-supported garden should call Alvin Warren at 548-4030.

Consumers receive misinformation about safety of bank-sold financial products

In the last few months, consumer groups and government regulators have released several disturbing studies which indicate that most Americans are misinformed about the relative safety of annuities and investment products sold in banks. These findings raise serious questions about the advisability of banks entering new lines of business Congress has historically ruled off-limits to the banking industry.

According to a survey by the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) and the North American Securities Administrators Association (NASAA), an alarming number of consumers mistakenly believe that annuities and mutual funds sold by banks are guaranteed by the U.S. government.

The vast majority (86 percent) of bank customers surveyed didn't understand that annuities—a type of insurance contract that pays out benefits over a period of years—are not protected by FDIC.

A study by the Securities Exchange Commission also found widespread confusion about whether the federal government protects bank-sold mutual funds in the same way it protects bank deposits.

Another survey of 33 leading banks by MONEY magazine concludes that banks "do a generally poor job on such basic tasks as learning the financial needs of clients and disclosing fees and the lack of FDIC insurance on the investment products they offer."

So bad is the problem, the Comptroller of the Currency has called for using undercover "mystery shoppers" to find out whether bankers are misleading investors. And the Consumer Federation of America has asked Congress to "move on a fast track to pass safeguards that will ensure that there can be no commingling-in practice or perception-of insured and uninsured activities of banks and thrifts."

This pattern of confusion and misunderstanding about bank-sold products underscores the very real danger to consumers when banks enter other lines of business such as insurance.

Banks should not be allowed to trade on their reputation as a safe place for savings in order to sell financial products which are not backed by FDIC. Not only is it harmful to consumers, but it's patently unfair to other providers of financial services who are left at a serious competitive disadvantage.

To protect consumers and maintain the soundness of our banking system, let's not give in to the bankers' pleas for expanded powers.

MURPHY ON REAL ESTATE

Terri Murphy

Murphy's Law and how it relates to moving

Moving day is one of those traumatic experiences that ranks up there with root canals or an IRS audit. Recently I moved, which has given me a much healthier perspective and plenty of hands on experience of just what it takes to just get through the day! Murphy's Law can apply to just about every aspect of this hectic scenario. Here are a few tips on avoiding complete chaos.

•Hiring a moving company to physically move your household really eases most of the back-breaking work. You can also pay to have the moving company actually pack up the boxes for you. Should you decide to pack yourself, consider a color coding system for identifying which room the boxes should be delivered to. It's much easier to spot a color code, than to "read" each box as it arrives.

Remember that if you pack your boxes yourself, you can only blame yourself for breakage. Be prepared to spend a lot of time wrapping, labeling and sealing each box. Most moving companies will sell you the packing paper and boxes if you take on this job yourself. Otherwise, you can do what I did and hire your mother to do a great job for you! Verify the time the truck is to arrive. Be sure to coordinate vacating the premises prior to your closing. Depending on how your contract is written, you should be turning over the keys when the money and title have transferred.

•Make arrangements to have a cleaning service do a final cleaning of floors, bath and cabinetry. You can expect to be thoroughly exhausted after the pack up and Murphy's Law guarantees your mop and vacuum are on the truck and on the way to your new destination. Most contracts have a clause that require the premises to be "broom clean and free of debris" and in clean condition.

•You may want to turn down the water heater to a lower setting if the premises will be vacant for awhile.

•Do a checklist at least 10 days prior to your scheduled move to deal with the utility changeovers. Some utilities need a few days to affect the change. It is a good idea to coordinate the "final reading" instead of a "final cut off" of service when the new owner is moving right in. Coordinating the changeover from one homeowner to the other avoids a lapse in the service. Remember you will need to have full service for the final walk through inspection, and don't want to risk a gap in critical heating service, especially during below zero weather.

•Having the phone service begin at your new residence the day of your move in is especially handy. Be advised that if you order switch over service on the day of your move, you may not have any service during the actual load day. My phones were dead somewhere around 5:30 a.m., so having a portable phone is a great convenience in case of emergency.

•The post office has their hands full handling regular mail flow, let alone the hundreds of forwarding requests. Make their job a little easier by notifying your periodicals like magazines, newspapers and other services of the pending changes as far in advance as possible..

•Don't forget to take the electric garage door openers out of the cars, with additional keys and leave them in a kitchen drawer or take them to the closing.

Moving is a tough job, but once you are there, it is well worth it. Contact your local moving company for a full brochure on moving tips.

A guaranteed rate increase with a no-penalty withdrawal option every six months.

Whichever way interest rates might go, the Rising Rate CD is a smart bet. Because if interest rates remain flat or drop, you'll still get a guaranteed raise in your CD rate every six months. But if interest rates begin to climb, the Rising Rate CD gives you the liquidity to pull out once every six months without penalty.

The rate earned for each six-month period rises as the chart above indicates, climbing to a 6.0% APY during the final six-month period.* You have the option of withdrawing all of your funds within the first ten days of any six-month interval. Or you can take out any portion of it as long as a $1,000 balance is maintained.

The Rising Rate CD. The liquidity you want, the guaranteed interest growth you need. To open yours for as little as $1,000, call or visit any participating bank office.

comes for us to grow," Eckhoff said. Based on past experience, Stack-On is looking for the growth trend to continue in the domestic and international market, as well as for their partnership with Wal-Mart to continue. The company's sales have grown every year since 1972.

William R. Fields, President and chief executive officer of Wal-Mart Stores Division, noted that the prestigious award highlights the close partnership that must exist between supplier and retailer creating the best value and service for the consumer.

"Recognizing these vendors is a tribute to their organizations and personnel, and Wal-Mart is very proud to be a part of the partnership," Fields said. "These vendors have maintained high product quality, excellent shipping records, and have remained flexible in order to accomplish our joint ultimate goal of satisfying the customer."

The Brentwood by Edward Schwartz & Co. is one of the many custom-built homes in this year's Lake County Tour of Homes. The home features 4 bedrooms with a large vaulted family room, two-story foyer, step-down living room and island kitchen. The Brentwood is located in Indian Creek of Buffalo Grove.

Record number of homes in '94 county tour

Visitors will have the opportunity to explore 60 model homes in this year's Lake County Tour of Homes. The tour is a scattered site event covering more than 40 areas in Lake County and northern Cook County. This gives prospective home-buyers the opportunity to evaluate different communities as well as homes.

The Lake County Tour of Homes is the largest event of its kind in the Chicago area and features model homes by almost every major builder in Lake County. The tour includes multi-family homes as well as single family homes. There is a home for every taste and budget with prices ranging from the low $100,000's up to 1 million.

The Lake County Tour of Homes runs June 11-19. All model homes in the tour will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily. As always, all models may be visited free of charge. Register at the models for a chance to win a 52 inch Zenith television or Chicago Cubs tickets.

The locations, names, and prices of homes and developments in this event will appear in newspapers prior to and during the tour. For more information call the Home Builders Association of Lake County at (708) 816-4663.

ANNIVERSARY OF D-DAY

The Roquette family and the employees of Roquette Freres sent the following message to the employees of Roquette America and asked us to pass it along to the citizens in our communities:

In a few days, we shall celebrate the anniversary of D-Day. Fifty years have elapsed since the Allies freed France and enabled us to recover our independence. We vividly remember the efforts and sacrifices which your fathers made and are grateful and proud that you enabled the Free French to join the battle alongside you. Please accept, from your colleagues in Roquette Freres, our everlasting thankfulness.

How To Survive
The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: I am employed with a company for just a very short time. There is a person who works here that has been training me before she leaves for a new job elsewhere. The problem I am having is that she has made some awful remarks to me about the owner of the company and other co-workers.
She warned me that the real reason she is leaving is that when she started she was told about insurance and told me not to hold my breath because the owner will never follow through. I have to work with this person for the next month for training before she leaves but I feel as though I should question this information that has been thrown in my lap. I don't want to be surprised to find out that I have put time in to this company that may not stand by what had been promised to me at the time of hire. What do you suggest I do? Thank you, M.L.R. - Lake Bluff

A: Dear M.L.R. This is a perfect example of why employers will ask an employee to leave the day that they give their notice. They can bad mouth, talk ill of management, co-workers, etc...without any worry as to being terminated... hey...they already quit! For your own interest however, don't assume this individual is feeding you correct information. There may be circumstances for this individual which may make her hard to insure...such as a pre-existing condition which the company insurance policy may not cover...who knows. The only thing that you do know is what you were told during the hiring process. To avoid any surprises down the road, my suggestion to you would be to ask the person who hired you for a meeting. Approach the situation in a professional manner, let them know that it came to you in the form of a warning, that the person you are replacing is leaving due to lack of insurance which had been promised. Inform the individual of the information told to you and stress to this person that while you are not one to listen to or pass on idle gossip, you felt that you should rather come and get the answer directly from the hiring authority. Do not be afraid to ask when the actual insurance benefits that were discussed at the time of hire will kick in.
Ask if there is an insurance booklet explaining the insurance. It is Major Medical, HMO, PPO or whatever. If there is a standard employment handbook, perhaps you should have that, too...Don't wait too long...better there should be no surprises.

PET PARADE

Every year canine and feline pets die from heat stroke. Usually this is the result of animals being left inside vehicles on hot, sunny days. Automobile windows convert solar energy into heat by the "Green House Effect." Pets left inside vehicles will experience a significant rise in body temperature and as the pets' temperature goes above 106 Fahrenheit, severe harm can be done to the body, especially the brain. This whole process can happen in as little time as five minutes on hot sunny days.

Unlike humans, pets are not able to regulate their body temperature by perspiring (sweating). Their only means is through panting and this is very inefficient, therefore pets are much more sensitive to heat stroke than are people.

During the hot summer months, you should leave your pet at home. Don't be swayed by that soulful "Can I go with you" look that only your pet can give.

If your pet must accompany you, certain precautions must be taken. Park in a well-shaded area and give your pet plenty of cross-ventilation. Be sure to check on them frequently, as the shade will move. A supply of cool water is also advisable.

Heatstroke doesn't just happen to pets that are locked in the car. An overly-exercised pet can also suffer heatstroke.

Symptoms are: Elevated body temperature, rapid heart rate, panting or gasping for breath, widely-dilated eyes, staggering gait, convulsions, collapse and sometimes vomiting.

Which pets are most at risk?

Those most susceptible are overweight and short-nosed dogs, dogs with heavy coats, young puppies, older pets and those with heart or kidney problems.

What should you do for a pet in heatstroke distress?

First aid measures must be undertaken quickly. First move the animal to a cool, shaded area. Lowering the core body temperature is essential. This can be accomplished by wetting the dog with cold water. Cold compresses can also be administered to the back of the neck and abdomen. If possible, a cold water enema is very helpful. After first aid treatment, the pet should be examined by a veterinarian.

Remember, heatstroke can often be prevented by following some common sense rules:

Never leave your pet unattended in a vehicle. Exercise your pet during the cooler times of the day. Be especially careful if your pet is long-coated or in the high risk group. You'll be glad you did!—by CATHIE SABIN, B.C. Dog Training

Recycled art sale

The art collector, art enthusiast or home decorator can make important discoveries at the Sixth Annual Recycled Art Sale, sponsored by the Suburban Fine Arts Center in Highland Park.

Works from private collections, artists and individuals have been donated to this unique event and will be offered at bargain prices. This is a major fundraising effort by this nonprofit center and proceeds go toward its scholarship and outreach programs.

Paintings, ceramics, antiques, frames, art books, art supplies and other art related objects will continue to be received throughout the sale.

There is an art object for every taste, age and budget. The famous names and bargains have attracted a wide following and its popularity and success has encouraged the center to host its sixth event of this kind.

The art sale begins on June 2, 6:30 to 8 p.m. with a preview and opens Friday, June 3 and continues through June 26, Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Enjoy village art

Some of the nation's most talented artists will be at the Village Green Art Festival, scheduled for June 18 and 19. Booths will be set up along the rolling paths at Village Green Park, Shermer and Meadow Roads, in the heart of downtown Northbrook.

Pottery, photography, paintings, jewelry, acrylics and wood carvings will display some of the most creative, unique techniques, and everything is on sale. A special section of work designed by young artists, ages 6 to 17, promises to be one of the festival highlights. Musical entertainment and refreshments will be available.

Village Green Art Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, June 18 and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday, June 19.

Artists, craftspeople sought

A special invitation is extended to qualified area artists and craftspeople to be among the exhibitors in the Second Annual Grove Arts and Crafts Experience to be presented by American Society of Artists at The Grove, Lake-Cook Road and Rte. 83 in Buffalo Grove on Saturday, June 18.

Potential exhibitors in this juried art and craft show are invited to submit four slides or photographs of work representative of that which they wish to exhibit, one slide or photograph of their display set-up, and a self-addressed, stamped business-size (No. 10) envelope. A resume/show listing is also helpful.

Demonstrations will take place throughout the exhibit.

Additional information may be obtained from American Society of Artists, P.O. Box 1326, Palatine, IL 60078, or by calling 312-751-2500 or 991-4748.

Colburn, Cox break ice at Wilmot Speedway

Correspondent

Muskego, Wis.'s "Gentleman Racing Fireman" Dick Colburn and Tim Cox of Park City each cracked the feature win plateau for the first time this season in the sprint and modified mains, respectively, on May 28 at Toft Auto Racing's Wilmot Speedway.

Scott Sippel of Elkhart Lake, Wis. snatched victory from the jaws of defeat for the second straight week in the mini-sprints main portion of the Budweiser Racing Series Memorial Day weekend program.

Cox, moments after climbing out of his modified, briefly took the lead from his outside front two starting berth at the drop of the green in the sprint main.

Dave Bliss overtook the top spot in turn three as the first lap was completed. Yellows on laps 5, 15 and 17 saw Bliss maintain top spot including when it was ruled he spun to avoid another car as the second caution flew.

Colburn shot outside next to the front straight-away wall on lap 18, overtaking Bliss. On lap 21, Todd Daun, who followed Colburn's lead of running the high line, briefly snuck inside in turn three to challenge the veteran.

A final yellow flag flew on lap 23 to close the field, but Colburn and his G&G Trucking/ Muskego Animal Hospital/C&C Motorsports mount were up to the task as he became the fifth different feature winner in as many outings for the winged warriors. Fast finishing Allen Winker nipped Daun for runner-up as the two swapped second several times during the final two laps. Gary Zobel was fourth with Bliss fading to fifth.

"We finally did it," said Colburn, who has held the point lead since April 16 despite not winning a feature until this one. "I didn't want to show everybody that I knew there was bite on top too soon. This has to have been the hardest I've ever run to get a feature."

Cox put his Tede's Corkscrew Lounge/A&S Alternators & Batteries modified into the lead from his pole position and headed the field every lap, but not without several challenges.

The first yellow flew on lap nine for a spin down the front straight-away. The final caution with two laps to go set up a wheel to wheel battle between point leader Jimmy Uttech, Jr. and Dennis Spitz.

Cox pulled away as the two dived several times in the closing two laps. Cox scored the win with Spitz getting Uttech by less than a car length at the finish for second. Gary Dye was fourth and Lenny Ostrowski, Jr., fifth.

"The crew really worked hard on the car," said Cox, who became the fifth different modified winner in six events. "I saw who was behind me on the scoreboard and just kept sticking to my line."

25th annual junior Judo Olympics
Mazzone's Frozen Desserts is the first corporate sponsor of the 25th annual National Junior Olympic Judo Championships July 14-17 at Buffalo Grove High School.

The event is hosted by major Chicago area judo clubs under auspices of Illinois Judo, Inc. More than 100 countries are expected to participate at the judo Olympics.

Illinois judo is still looking for more corporate sponsors of this tournament to offset the cost of running the event. Major companies such as Coca Cola and Konica are some of the major corporate sponsors.

Sponsorship levels include: Gold Medal, $1,250; Silver medal, $750; Bronze Medal, $350; and VIP Patron, $100.

For more information about sponsorship, call 470-0175 or 879-0900.

New items add spice to Road America's schedule

Two hot new June items—the Harley-Davidson Superbike challenge and the debut of vintage Winston Cup stock cars—add spice to Road America's already action-packed racing menu for 1994 in Elkhart Lake, Wis.

First up, as part of the Coca-Cola Super Cycle Classic June 10-12, is the Harley-Davidson challenge, marking the first time ever that Milwaukee-based, American-made Harley bikes have competed against the dominant Japanese and Italian factory teams in the premier superbike class.

Leading the Harley charge will be proven veteran Miguel Duhamel and talented newcomer Fritz Kling, who will be riding

In addition to superbike action, the Coca-Cola Super Cycle Classic—which last year drew a record 40,000 fans—features top riders from all over the United States competing in 250 Grand Prix, Supersport, Harley-Davidson Twin Sports, and Team Challenge endurance events.

On June 24-26, stock cars will rumble through the hills and valleys of Road America's rolling, four-mile course, as an added attraction to sports car racing at this year's Younkens/SCCA June sprints.

For 10 thundering laps, more than 40 historic NASCAR Winston Cup cars—formerly driven by greats like Cale Yarborough, Richard Petty, Dale Earnhardt, Harry Gant, and Rusty Wallace—will be racing once again in thrilling, bumper-to-bumper action.

Each year, it attracts more than 400 of the nation's top club racers, who do battle in 24 classes of competition in eight hard-fought events.

Vintage racing fans will enjoy the Cumo Inn Presents the Road America International Challenge July 22-24, which includes more than 400 colorful vintage race cars.

This year's challenge again includes the popular "Can-Am Thunder" event, featuring more than 40 of the Group Seven machines, plus a special "GT-40 Reunion" celebrating the sports-car that took the world by storm in the late 1960s.

On August 6-7, the racing gets down and dirty in the SODA Off-Road Challenge.

Included in the two days of rough and ready action are 16 slam-bang races featuring 17 classes of pickups, trucks and buggies, banging fenders across Road America's hilly, 1.1 mile course.

In addition, Road America also offers two AMA-sanctioned motorcross events on Memorial Day and Labor Day.

Road America closes out its season with a grand finale: the TEXACO/Havoline 200 Indy Car Weekend Sept. 9-11.

Included in the star-filled lineup will be defending national champion Nigel Mansell; Paul Tracy, winner of last year's race; Michael Andretti, a two-time winner; Mario Andretti, who will be driving in his last Indy car race at Road America. Emerson Fittipaldi and Bobby Rahal will also be racing.

For tickets to any of Road America's 1994 events, call 1-800-365-RACE.

Special Recreation gymnasts compete in regional Gymnasts from the Special Recreation Association of Central Lake County competed in the Northeastern Illinois Special Olympics regional gymnastics meet at Mundelein High School.

Individuals have been training at the Gym Spot in Mundelein under the supervision of SRALC recreation specialists Michelle Petitgout and Kristen Rosenberg.

All gymnasts performed in excellent fashion at the competition. Those placing first in an event are eligible to compete at the Special Olympics State Summer Games at Illinois State University June 17-19.

Results from the regional include: Scott Allen, Libertyville, second and first in pommel horse I and vault II; Michelle Amundson, Mundelein, first and third in floor exercise I and vault II; Eric Anderson, Lake Zurich, two firsts in parallel bars IV and pommel horse IV; Bridget Carroll, Mundelein, third and second in balance beam II and uneven bars II; Jamie Jenkins, Mundelein, second and first in balance beam I and floor exercise I; Anthony Maurizio, Lake Zurich, second and first in vault I and pommel horse I; Jennifer Rockstroh, Hawthorn Woods, second and first in hoop I and ribbon I; and Lesly Tatz, Vernon Hills, second and fifth in floor exercise A and vault I.

SRALC provides recreational services for individuals with disabilities residing within Mundelein Park District, Vernon Hills Park District, the Village of Lake Zurich and the Village of Libertyville.

These gymnasts from the Special Recreation Association of Central Lake County earned the chance to compete at the Special Olympics State Summer Games June 17-19.

Ever wonder why baseball games consist of 9 innings instead of say, 8 or 10 or some other number?... In the early days of baseball, teams played any number of innings... The winner of a game then was the first team to score 21 runs, regardless of how many innings were played... That rule wasn't changed until 1857 when it was decided to limit the game to a specific number of innings... Nine innings were picked to represent the 9 men on a team.

Here's an amazing pitching feat... It happened in a minor league game in 1952 when Ron Neccial of Bristol in the Appalachian League not only pitched a no-hitter, but struck out all 27 men!... He got all three outs in every inning by strike outs!

What are the most runs ever scored by one team in one big league baseball game?... The record is 36, by the Cubs in a game in 1897.

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Todd Baczek's best effort in the bench press was equal to the record at Northwestern University.

Was he satisfied?

It does not take long to know Baczek to find the answer to that one.

With the grit and determination which made him a state qualifier in the shot put and a two-time all-conference linemen, Baczek attacked the 11-year-old record.

He set the new standard by 25 pounds, raising the mark to 500 at an off-season workout.

"That was one of my goals for the fall," Baczek said. "I just used consistent weightlifting."

Baczek has increased his bench press total by 200 pounds since his prep days. And he has improved his running.

"It is phenomenal for a big player. He increased his time in the 40-yard dash from 4.9 to 4.0," NU strength coach Larry Lilja said.

Lilja was impressed early with Baczek.

"He has very good work habits. One of his goals is to be the best lineman in the conference," Lilja said. "With certain players, you can tell they will do what needs to be done."

Baczek is one of 10 starters on offense at Northwestern. He will be at offensive tackle this fall, lining up to another area standout lineman. Matt O'Dwyer, a Stevenson grad, will be a guard. They could be opening up holes for the Stevenson's former 1,000-yard runner, Faraji Leary.

"Matt and Todd really push each other," Lilja said.

Baczek, 6-foot, 3 inch, 285 senior's exploits in the weight room include 650 pound squat, 315 pound power clean and another record, a 425-pound incline press.

Lilja said NU has players do the bench press in a more difficult fashion than most.

Hope springs external in May among football circles as major colleges just completed spring drills.

"The Big Ten should be a close race this year. Everyone is pretty much even," Baczek said optimistically.

Baczek has played both on the offensive and defensive lines for NU. He was defensive newcomer of the year in 1992, recording two quarterback sacks and 9 tackles in 5 games. He played in 8 of 11 games that year, starting the final three.

Northwestern's facilities for weight training have improved over the last few years, Lilja said.

He stressed Baczek set the mark as a drug-free lineman.

Baczek, an Arbor Vista resident, was a key member of the state quarterfinalist team at Carmel on the 9-3 1990 team. He was also all-East Suburban Catholic Conference pick the year before, when Carmel made the playoffs for the first time in several years.

He qualified for the state track and field meet in the shot put and had a 30-5 record as a heavy-weight wrestler.

"I had a couple of other offers, but I have no regrets," Baczek, an organizational studies major, said.

After all, there is that last chance for a Rose Bowl trip.

World Cup draw still available

Contrary to reports, there are still tickets available for this summer's World Cup games. Thanks to a private sports marketing company, '94 Sports Marketing of Northbrook, premiere tickets to World Cup USA 1994 matches are still available in each of the following host cities: Chicago, New York, Orlando and Los Angeles (final week).

When considering the huge ticket demand for the first World Cup on American soil, the outlook for American soccer fans looked bleak. '94 Sports Marketing, however, has come to the rescue offering "premier" tickets to these fans.

In addition to selling tickets to World Cup matches, '94 Sports Marketing is also staging the following World Cup events: "The Chairman's Opening Night Gala," featuring entertainer Liza Minnelli and hosted by World Cup USA 1994 Chairman and CEO Alan L. Rothenberg at Navy Pier, and a selection of "World Cup USA '94 Golf Events," including the event at Medinah Country Club, course no. 3.

For more information on World Cup ticket packages and other related events, interested parties may call 1-800-KICK or 559-8222.

More than 50 athletes converged at Riverside Park and Copeland School in Libertyville to compete in the regional tennis meet for the Special Olympics.

While many people were enjoying Memorial Weekend picnics, these special athletes were sweating it out on the courts.

Many of the tennis players work at Lambs Farm, a restaurant operated by persons who are developmentally disabled.

Winners of the Division 2 doubles competition included Mike Kurschner and Jeff Tomaszek, first place; Thorne Hill and Linda Schuh, second place; Randy Naberhaus and Karen Bieschke, third place; and Karen Buron and Libby Creigh, fourth place.

'Weekend Warriors' compete in PBA regional tournament

In a close match, Mike Nape of Chicago defeated Eugene McCune 207-199 to win the $20,000 Hawthorn Lanes Add-A-Bath Professional Bowling Association regional.

Hawthorn Lanes in Vernon Hills has sponsored the Memorial Day regional for the last five years. More than 160 professional bowlers from the Midwest spared and struck the lanes. This year's tournament was highlighted by three 300 games.

Nape, who won $3,000, had just applied for PBA membership before the start of the tournament. He averaged 230 over the weekend.

McCune, whose father, Don, is in the PBA Hall of Fame, came up the step ladder from fourth place to win $1,700 for finishing second. His second second-place finish in as many weeks. He averaged a 226.

Hawthorn Lanes' proprietor and three-time national tour champion Bill Spigner finished 10th in the tournament and bowled a 300 game during the stepladder rounds.

Also scoring 300 games were McCune and Leroy Johnson, who finished fourth and won $1,000.

Another highlight of the tournament was Pat Gannon's 12th place finish. Gannon is a 17-year-old Libertyville High School senior who was bowling in his first PBA event.

Regional Director Dick Weber said he enjoys regional tournaments because it enables him to watch young bowlers develop.

He also noted that most of the bowlers are "weekend warriors" who travel across the Midwest to compete in weekend tournaments. The Midwest regional includes Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin, Missouri, Minnesota, South Dakota and Illinois.

Weber himself is one of 33 charter members of the PBA, which began in 1958. He has won 26 national PBA titles, six senior titles and four U.S. Opens. He has been named to the Hall of Fame.
